CITY DRESSING UP TO WELCOME INCOMING THROGS OF PYTHIANS

First Delegates, Arriving Today, Find Work of Decoration Well Under Way For Next Week's Big Gathering—National Colors Should Be Displayed.

Kingston is already taking on a holiday aspect with many of the stores and business places decorated with the national colors and the colors of the order of Knights of Pythias. The first delegates are expected to arrive in town today and although slightly ahead of schedule they will find the Old Colonial decorated and extending a welcome to all. All business places are requested to decorate their stores and private dwellings should also display the national colors wherever possible.

Among the delegates who will attend the convention are people from all over the state representing lodges in practically every city and town in the state.

The convention week will be opened Monday evening when public exercises will be held at the high school auditorium. A program has been arranged which will be of interest to everyone. An effort is being made to add another number to the program which if successful will be a delight to those who attend. The program for Monday evening follows:

Selection by Imperial Orchestra. Meeting called to order by William H. Stork, C. C., Franklin Lodge, No. 37.

Presentation of flag. Prayer by Rev. Harry Cornford.

Introduction of the Hon. Palmer Cantford, Grand Chancellor.

Selection by Kingston Quartet, Arthur Rife, John T. R. Hall, Herman La Tour, Harry Clearwater, accompanied by W. Whiting Fredenburgh.

Address, William Ladew, Supreme Chancellor.

Selection by Kingston Quartet. Address, Charles S. Davis, Past Supreme Chancellor.

Retirement of Flag. National Anthem.

Orchestra. Benediction. The Welcome Home arch that was erected when Kingston's soldier boys came home from the world war is being repainted and decorated by the street department.

To make the welcome of the visiting Pythians more appropriate the street department has removed the arch making it read "Welcome."

The arch is also being decorated with bunting. The decorations on the city hall have also been placed and the street department was busy this morning placing the small American flags in the standards on the electric light poles.

CONVALESCENTS GIVEN OUTING

On Thursday afternoon the convalescent soldiers who are boarding at Woodstock and Bearsville were given a fine ride and party by the Kingston people whose interest in this work is unflagging.

Miss Haldane and Miss Helen Westbrook arranged the party. Four automobiles belonging to Mrs. Watson Freer, Mrs. John Forester, Frank Cockendall and Harold Otis carried the soldiers around the Ashokan reservoir, a ride which was a delight to these boys whose eyes have until so recently seen only four hospital walls.

The party wound up at the Willow club house which is now in constant use by the service men. Here ice cream and cake were served, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Zabriskie of the Huntington, and the boys were entertained by Fred Van Deusen with feats of magic and jugglery.

A beautiful new flag has just been presented to the club house by Mrs. O. P. Wines. New records for the phonograph, puzzles, and games provide amusement for the club members, while boxing gloves, baseballs and a football are for those who are able to exercise. The club house is a great comfort to all ex-servicemen who are spending the summer within several miles of its hospitable doors.

Chicago, July 23.—Midwest Smith, the latest motor to flash in the bantamweight ranks, is a notch farther up the pugilistic ladder today as a result of his defeat of Joe Burman in ten round fracas at East Chicago. New York, July 23.—After dressing the wound for the first time since the operation, physicians stated today that Frank Farino, who had three stitches taken in his heart, is going to live. The wound exposed for the dressing today is healing nicely, the doctors said.

Not In Eddyville.

John H. Banks, the Eddyville building contractor, states that the large dancing pavilion which he is erecting for Antonio Tandonio is at the Rosencrans place in Eddyville, and not in Eddyville as was printed. Outside of that he says the item was all right.

HARDING OFF TO CAMP AND FISH

Becomes First Angling President Since Grover Cleveland—Mrs. Harding Unable To Accompany Him To Ford-Edison-Firestone Camp De Luxe In Blue Ridge Hills—Bishop Anderson One of Hosts.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, July 23.—Warren G. Harding laid aside the cares and burdens of the president of the United States today and became a tourist camper, bent on a week-end excursion.

Garbed in rough tweeds, and with vacation paraphernalia packed in his touring car, the president left the White House at 9:30 today at the head of a camping caravan, bound for Peckinville, Md., where the chief executive will join the Firestone-Edison-Ford camping party.

The presidential camping party was incomplete for Mrs. Harding, who is the constant companion of the president, did not make the trip. For several days the "first lady" has been slightly indisposed and upon the advice of Brigadier General Sawyer, the White House physician, she remained in Washington. General Sawyer and Secretary George Christian, the usual secret service men and a flock of newspaper correspondents, made up the presidential party.

Peckinville, which is hardly more than a postoffice and general store in the Blue Ridge hills, will be reached about noon. Just in time the president hopes, for a real camp lunch, and he is ready to munch bacon from his fingers.

The camp where the chief executive will spend the next twenty-four hours is on the banks of Licking Creek, about 17 miles from Hagerstown, Md.

Luring tales of the abounding fish in Licking creek have reached the president's ears, and this afternoon he plans to sit in stolid comfort on the banks of these well-ventilated waters and "just fish." It will be the first time since Grover Cleveland left the White House that there has been an angling president.

Tonight the president will sleep in the open, sheltered by a reformed army tent.

The famous Firestone-Edison-Ford camp fire will be burning, and it is expected that the camp fire circle will hold forth until a late hour tonight, but there will be only stories and no serious discussion of the great problems of the day if the president has his way.

The camp to which the president is going is no ordinary roadside gypsy home. It is a camp de luxe. There are twenty tents pitched in the camp, and these are augmented by specially built camping cars, which harbor many of the comforts of a home.

The presidential digestion will be well guarded for there are two real chefs, white caps and all, attached to the party, and in addition there is a laboratory expert from the Ford factories, who cares for water supplies, camp sanitation and such other scientific matters as may be necessary.

The president is the guest of Harvey S. Firestone and Bishop William S. Anderson of Cincinnati.

The members of the camping party are: Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Firestone of Akron, Ohio; Roland Firestone, Bishop and Mrs. William S. Anderson of Cincinnati; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Edsel Ford of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Edison of East Orange, N. J.

The president's route to the Blue Ridge camp was over the much traveled Frederick Pike from Washington. His coming had been well heralded and reports received here prior to the departure indicated that the Maryland country side was turning out to greet the chief executive.

Speeches are not on the presidential program today, but if he escapes without making a few informal addresses he will be most fortunate. At Funkstown, Md., there is a celebration in progress and unless the president makes a detour and escapes the town the committee in charge of the celebration plans to make a formal request upon the "camper" for an address.

The president's heed to the call of the wild and his concession to the lure of angling were not without competition. It was learned today.

Owen Gets Consular Job.

Captain Earl Owen of Yulan, Sullivan county, has been appointed United States consul to Brazil and will sail for that country about the first of September. He served with General Pershing on the Mexican border and also served in France during the world war. He rose to the rank of captain and was about to be appointed major when the armistice was signed. Captain Owen's salary as consul will be $5,000 a year.

"CHECK ARTIST" WORKED COHEN'S

Thursday Irving C. Finkelstein walked into S. Cohen's Sons' store on Wall street, and a short time later left with a hundred dollars in cash leaving in exchange a check for that amount payable to "Cash" and drawn on the Columbia Trust Company of New York city where Mr. Finkelstein assured them he had an account.

As a result of Mr. Finkelstein's visit and departure a warrant has been sworn out for his arrest on a charge of grand larceny in the second degree by E. Frank Flanagan, manager of the store, who claims that the check was worthless.

Mr. Finkelstein is the biggest man, physically, that ever passed a "bad" check in Kingston. He is 6 foot 4 inches in height and weighs 350 pounds. He has dark hair and when last seen wore a suit of dark clothes with a light stripe and a straw hat. It is said he has two scars on his stomach from operations he had undergone in the past.

The public market at Field Court opened this morning at 6:30 o'clock and closed at 8:40 o'clock with all of the produce sold. There were several more producers present today, and more are expected. Indications are that the market is steadily growing in favor and will meet with success.

POLICE RAID A POOL ROOM

And Arrest Proprietor Richard A. Johnson On a Charge of Selling Intoxicating Liquors For Beverage Purposes—Trial Next Tuesday.

Friday evening Chief of Police J. Allan Wood, Sergeant Phinney and Officer "Sime" Wood descended on a pool room conducted by Richard A. Johnson at Chambers and East Union street, and seized about twelve gallons of alleged intoxicating liquors, consisting of various brands of wine and some home brew beer. In the old days before prohibition and before Mr. Johnson opened a pool room the building housed the well known "Tub of Blood" as the saloon there was known in police circles.

Mr. Johnson was arrested before Judge Schrick in police court this morning, and through his attorney, A. J. Cook, entered a plea of not guilty, and the hearing was adjourned to Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. His bail bond of $500 was continued.

The raid Friday was made on a search warrant.

3-DAY LULL IN ILLINOIS SCANDAL

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Springfield, Illinois, July 23.—The Illinois embezzlement scandal involving the alleged misuse of $4,000,000 in state interest money was merely a topic for discussion today. No developments of any kind were expected until next Tuesday when Judge Smith will reconvene court.

The bonds of Lieutenant Governor Sterling and Vernon Curtis, Grant Park banker, were fixed at $50,000 each and have been filed with the court. The next and most important step, that of ruling on the question of Governor Smith's liability to arrest, will not be decided until next week.

Much speculation is being made on the decision Judge Smith will make and its possible results. In case he denies the immunity plea, it is taken from statements the governor has made that he will resist arrest and will call the National Guard to protect his "constitutional rights" if necessary.

Small but Peppy. Stony Hollow has a little gasoline war all its own. While small, the war is a lively and strenuous one with more real fighting in it than Kingston showed in recent hostilities over the same subject.

DEKOSKIE'S CAR RIPPED AND CUT

With a Knife in the Hand of Some Mysterious Unknown While It Was in His Garage on Ann Street—He is Suing Siller for Damages.

Peter Dekoskie is the owner of a five passenger Overland touring car which he kept in a building he leased from Jacob Siller on Ann street, paying a rental of $3 a month. Mr. Dekoskie used half of the building as a garage and Mr. Siller the other half. There are two doors to the building. About June 20 someone entered the garage and with a knife maliciously cut and slashed the top, back and seats and cushions of the Dekoskie car, then taking the knife and plunging it into all four tires on the car.

As a result of the damage to his car which he places at $225.55 Mr. Dekoskie, through his attorney, Chris J. Flanagan, has brought an action against Mr. Siller to recover that amount. Mr. Siller is represented by Judge W. D. Brimmer, Jr., and the trial was set down for today in city court before Judge Schrick.

Mr. Dekoskie claims that Mr. Siller was negligent in not placing a lock on his door of the garage. There is no partition dividing the Dekoskie half of the building from the Siller half. On the Dekoskie side there was a lock on the door, but he claims that he saw that the lock on the Siller door was broken and that he called Mr. Siller's attention to it, and that Siller promised to repair it, but did not do so, and as a result the person who damaged the Dekoskie car secured entrance to the building through the Siller door, where the lock was broken.

Mr. Siller, on the other hand, denies that he is responsible. The case when tried promises to be interesting. Who was guilty of damaging the Dekoskie car is not known at this time.

LERONDE OFF FOR PARIS.

Will Report To Government On Silesian Conditions.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Berlin, July 23.—General Leronde, head of the Inter-Allied High Commission in Upper Silesia, has left Oppeln for Paris via Prague to make a report to his government, according to information received here from Oppeln today.

General Leronde, a French officer, and General Czieslinsky, a Polish officer, have headed a joint commission, and it is charged by the Germans that this joint commission is allowing the Poles to enter the French army of occupation in Upper Silesia.

What Will Happen.

In a little while Kingston will have a celebration marking the opening of the traffic of the Rondout creek bridge connecting Kingston with Southern Ulster. And they will have distinguished speakers, state officials, former state officials, possibly the secretary of the United States treasury, etc. One of the first duties of the committee that will have charge of the extending of invitations, should be to apprise the gentlemen invited to speak, of the application to Mayor Canfield of that city for a written application to deliver such addresses as they may prepare. Otherwise, some overzealous policeman, who is of the opinion that laws are made to be enforced equally and impartially and who does not differentiate between men, may interrupt a speaker, ask for his license or permit, and failing to get it, may embarrass the speaker immensely. Of course they do not want anything like this to happen, yet, under the funny ordinance that the aldermen of that city passed without debate or protest it might happen.—From Alderman Martin's Tannersville Times-Record.

FRENCH INCREASE SILESIA FORCE

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Paris, July 23.—In the face of British opposition to the sending of more Allied troops into Upper Silesia, a whole French division is under orders from Marshal Foch today to leave for Upper Silesia to-day. It was expected that they would entrain during the day. The division is upon a complete war footing with heavy and light artillery, airplanes and tanks.

France has made further representations to the British government insisting upon the transfer of more allied troops to Upper Silesia. Immediately in view of the fact that France cannot consent to an immediate meeting of the supreme council to take up the Silesian issue.

Premier Briand shows no the slightest sign of giving in to the British demand for a meeting of the supreme council this month.

Two Dogs Killed.

Friday evening about 10:20 o'clock Earl Schoonmaker of No. 2 Maiden Lane struck and killed a dog that ran in front of his automobile on Hasbrouck avenue. The same day David Seigel driving the big truck of the Kingston Candy Company struck a dog owned by Mr. Dougherty, breaking its leg. Officer Welch later shot the animal.

IRISH PEACE HANGS ON 1 POINT

Sinn Fein Abandons Demand for Republic but Wants to Dominate Irish Government While Ulster Men Want Equal Voice.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, July 23.—Peace negotiations between England and Ireland marked time today. The next move is up to Ireland. The Ulster Unionists requested Premier Lloyd-George to make a statement in the House of Commons on Monday regarding the Irish peace situation, but it is doubtful if he accedes unless a formal communication has been received from Eamonn De Valera in the meantime.

According to the Daily Mail the only rock upon which the negotiations are sticking is the question of representation in any Irish government that may be established.

The London Times understands that the Sinn Fein has relinquished its demand for a republic and that this phase of the situation no longer plays an important part in the negotiations.

Dublin, July 23.—Eamonn De Valera who arrived here last night with Premier Lloyd-George's peace offer, made a report today to the high chiefs of the Sinn Fein.

De Valera no longer lives in secret and his public appearance on the streets today called forth renewed ovations. The reception given him upon his return from London was one of the biggest and most spectacular in the history of this city.

That De Valera is convinced of the success of the Irish cause is shown by the following brief statement:

"This is not the time to talk shop. One of the magnificent lessons of the past few years is that nations do not achieve freedom by speech making. If we act in the future as we have acted during the past few years we will not have to talk about freedom. We shall have it."

Among the first persons consulted by De Valera upon his arrival here were Michael Collins, commander in chief of the Irish Republican army, and Arthur Griffith, founder of the Sinn Fein.

TURKS RETIRE IN FAIR ORDER

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, July 23.—The Turkish cabinet at an extraordinary session in Constantinople discussed the advisability of appealing to the allied powers to intervene in Anatolia to stop the war between the Turkish Nationalists and the Greeks, said an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Constantinople today.

The Greeks have advanced 20 miles eastward from Eski-Shehr, but sustained 5,000 casualties in the fighting in that sector of the battlefield, according to an Athens dispatch to the Daily Express.

The Athens correspondent of the Daily Express said that the Turkish prisoners in the Eski-Shehr are now estimated at 6,000, although they had previously been estimated as high as 30,000.

The Turks retired in fair order from Eski-Shehr, after recovering from the Greeks' surprise attack. It is believed that the Turks will make their next decisive stand upon high ground sixty miles east of Eski-Shehr.

LONG TARIFF FIGHT IN SENATE

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, July 23.—The demands of sectional and special interests for changes in the Fordney tariff bill as it passed the house are pouring in upon the senate finance committee today in a veritable flood. Spokesmen for these interests are arriving in anticipation of the public hearings on the bill which the committee will begin on Monday.

There are indications that the tariff fight will be waged all over again when the bill is reported to the senate. The house leaders were able to choke off debate and amendments by invoking a special rule. The senate does not possess such a rule. Closure is the only "gag rule" the senate possesses. A two-thirds vote is necessary to enforce it. The house leaders can clap on a special rule with a majority vote.

J. A. REILLY DROPPED DEAD

A Poorly Advertised Fair. The Freeman has announced twice in the last few months from information received from Albany the dates for the 1921 Ulster county fair. (Aug. 23 to 26, if the fair officials at Ellenville are making any effort at publicity it isn't apparent in the papers that circulate in the county. The Freeman hasn't received from Ellenville anything to even indicate that there is to be a fair, and calls attention to this fact a little earlier than usual this year.

Orange county does things differently. For a month past The Freeman has been bombarded with notices telling how good the harness and auto races and other attractions are going to be and even the premium lists have been received.

LATIN-AMERICA BACKS CONFERENCE

Small Nations Seem To Realize That Quicker Disarmament Will Result From Small Number of Envoys And Are Willing To Let U. S. Talk For Them.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, July 23.—Although Latin-America, and those nations which border on the Pacific, are displaying the keenest interest in President Harding's disarmament and Far Eastern conference, not one of these nations has yet made representations to the United States seeking a seat at the conference table, it was learned at the state department today.

Practically every Latin-American ambassador and minister who has called at the state department since announcement was made of the president's plan, it was learned today, has expressed deep interest in the conference and has warm hopes for its success.

No secret is made of the fact that virtually all of the Latin-American governments would be highly pleased to participate in the conference, but so far there has been little or no disposition to take offense because they were not included.

There is a general feeling among the republics to the south, diplomats stated, that this is essentially a conference of the great powers, and while they will watch the proceedings closely, they appreciate the contention of Secretary Hughes that the conference must necessarily be limited, and they have not the slightest disposition to embarrass the state department in the course he has seen fit to take.

Disarmament is distinctly popular in Mexico, Central America and South America at the present time, and there can be no doubt of the willingness of nations included in these groups to follow the lead of the United States in this direction. President Obregon is rapidly reducing the Mexican army and the cutting down of military establishments is one of the chief arguments advanced in favor of the union of Central American republics.

Ambassador Mathieu, of Chile, who was at one time minister of war in the Chilean government, expressed himself as heartily in support of the movement initiated by President Harding, and pointed out the Chile and Argentina are pioneers in the disarmament movement, having signed an agreement years ago under the terms of which they not only cancelled contracts placed abroad for warships, but also dismantled war vessels already in commission. Ambassador Pezet of Peru also is in full accord with the proposal for reduction of armies and navies.

Senator Manuel Teller, charge d'affaires of the Mexican embassy, stated there is widespread interest in disarmament in Mexico.

Latin-American nations bordering on the Pacific have manifested no inclination to insist upon representation in the conference because of their possible interest in the discussion of the Pacific questions. They appreciate the fact that while the proposed conference has been characterized as a Pacific conference, it will have to do mainly with questions of the far Pacific, rather than the eastern areas of that ocean. They expect, however, to be consulted before any decisions are reached in matters in which they have a direct interest, such as immigration, commerce and cable or wireless communications.

In this connection, the action of the state department in notifying the governments of Belgium, The Netherlands and Portugal, that because of their acknowledged interests in the Pacific, they would be given a hearing even though they are not to have regular delegations in the conference, has tended to quiet any misgivings Latin-Americans may have had as to their part in the conference.

Practically every Latin-American country is expected to have representatives in Washington during the conference whose duty it shall be to keep their government and the people informed of what is going on in the conference.

SEIZE NEW GRAND HOTEL LIQUOR

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, July 23.—"Hooh" was being peddled at fifty cents a throw from the first rolling bar, now in captivity, to make its appearance here early today.

Police on duty around 68th street noticed the magnetic effect of a limousine pulled up against the curb on a group of sailors and others who kept drifting out of a neighboring dance hall and over to the car. Upon investigation they found the occupants had been selling so called whiskey from their rolling saloon at 50 cents a throw.

The transitory bar-keeper and his companions melted into the crowd of customers when the officers appeared and escaped. Ten pints and a quart and an excellent car was the haul.

Frank Seiden, proprietor of the hotel, demanded a hearing.

TROOPERS MAKE BIG LIQUOR RAID

By Telegram to The Freeman.

State police under the direction of District Attorney Wilson raided five hotels in the Greenwood Lake district Thursday night, and seized a huge quantity of what is alleged to be liquor. Two automobiles were required to carry the stuff seized and four arrests were made. In only one of the five resorts visited did the police fail to find goods regarded as unlawful. In one, a charge of selling is also to be made and in another a slot machine was taken. The raid was the most important in the matter of results since the big raid in Newburgh, the spoils being worth several thousands of dollars.

Those arrested included the following named:

Coe Ten Eyck, Valley House Annex, Charles Kasse, Mountain Spring Hotel, James Counsell, Warwick Woodland, and Thomas Draak, De Graw's. In all of these places a greater or less quantity of what is alleged to be liquor was found. At Draak's it is alleged liquor was sold openly and a charge of selling will also be made. At Counsell's it is charged, a slot machine was also in operation. All of the search warrants were made returnable to Judge Wiggins in Middletown on August 1. The hotel of Julius Brandes was also visited but in this nothing suspicious was found.

The presidential digestion will be well guarded for there are two real chefs, white caps and all, attached to the party, and in addition there is a laboratory expert from the Ford factories, who cares for water supplies, camp sanitation and such other scientific matters as may be necessary.

The president is the guest of Harvey S. Firestone and Bishop William S. Anderson of Cincinnati.

The members of the camping party are: Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Firestone of Akron, Ohio; Roland Firestone, Bishop and Mrs. William S. Anderson of Cincinnati; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Edsel Ford of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Edison of East Orange, N. J.

The president's route to the Blue Ridge camp was over the much traveled Frederick Pike from Washington. His coming had been well heralded and reports received here prior to the departure indicated that the Maryland country side was turning out to greet the chief executive.

Speeches are not on the presidential program today, but if he escapes without making a few informal addresses he will be most fortunate. At Peckinville, Md., there is a celebration in progress and unless the president makes a detour and escapes the town the committee in charge of the celebration plans to make a formal request upon the "camp" for an address.

The president's head to the call of the wild and his concession to the lure of angling were not without competition. It was learned today.

"CHECK ARTIST" WORKED COHEN'S

Thursday Irving C. Finkelstein walked into S. Cohen's Sons' store on Wall street, and a short time later left with a hundred dollars in cash leaving in exchange a check for that amount payable to "Cash" and drawn on the Columbia Trust Company of New York city where Mr. Finkelstein assured them he had an account.

As a result of Mr. Finkelstein's visit and departure a warrant has been sworn out for his arrest on a charge of grand larceny in the second degree by E. Frank Flanagan, manager of the store, who claims that the check was worthless.

Mr. Finkelstein is the biggest man, physically, that ever passed a "bad" check in Kingston. He is 6 feet 4 inches in height and weighs 350 pounds. He has dark hair and when last seen wore a suit of dark clothes with a light stripe and a straw hat. It is said he has two scars on his stomach from operations he had undergone in the past.

POLICE RAID A POOL ROOM

And Arrest Proprietor Richard A. Johnson On a Charge of Selling Intoxicating Liquors For Beverage Purposes—Trial Next Tuesday.

Friday evening Chief of Police J. Allan Wood, Sergeant Phinney and Officer "Sime" Wood descended on a pool room conducted by Richard A. Johnson at Chambers and East Union street, and seized about twelve gallons of alleged intoxicating liquors consisting of various brands of wine and some home brewed beer. In the old days before prohibition and before Mr. Johnson opened a pool room the building housed the well known "Tab of Blood" as the saloon there was known in police circles.

Mr. Johnson was arraigned before Judge Schirick in police court this morning, and through his attorney, A. J. Cook, entered a plea of not guilty, and the hearing was adjourned to Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. His bail bond of $500 was continued.

The raid Friday was made on a search warrant.

3-DAY LULL IN ILLINOIS SCANDAL

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Springfield, Illinois, July 22.—The Illinois embezzlement scandal involving the alleged misuse of $1,000,000 in state interest money was merely a topic for discussion today. No developments of any kind were expected until next Tuesday when Judge Smith will reconvene court.

The bonds of Lieutenant Governor Steadman and Vernon Curtis, Grant Park banker, were fixed at $50,000 each and have been filed with the court. The next and most important step, that of ruling on the question of Governor Smith's liability to arrest, will not be decided until next week.

Much speculation is being made on the decision Judge Smith will make and its possible results. In case he denies the immunity plea, it is taken from statements the governor has made that he will resign at once and will call the National Guard to protect his "constitutional rights" if necessary.

Smith has a wife and a son, who is a lawyer and a student at the University of Chicago. It is said that the governor's salary is $10,000 a year.

DEKOSKIE'S CAR RIPPED AND CUT

With a Knife in the Hand of Some Mysterious Unknown While It Was in His Garage on Ann Street—He Is Suing Siller for Damages.

Peter Dekoskie is the owner of a five passenger Overland touring car which he kept in a building he leased from Jacob Siller on Ann street, paying a rental of $3 a month. Mr. Dekoskie used half of the building as a garage and Mr. Siller the other half. There are two doors to the building. About June 20 someone entered the garage and with a knife maliciously cut and slashed the top, back and seats and cushions of the Dekoskie car, then taking the knife and plunging it into all four tires on the car.

As a result of the damage to his car which he places at $225.55 Mr. Dekoskie, through his attorney, Chris J. Flanagan, has brought an action against Mr. Siller to recover that amount. Mr. Siller is represented by Judge W. D. Brinnier, Jr., and the trial was set down for today in city court before Judge Schirick.

Mr. Dekoskie claims that Mr. Siller was negligent in not placing a lock on his door of the garage. There is no partition dividing the Dekoskie half of the building from the Siller half. On the Dekoskie side there was a lock on the door, but he claims that Siller promised to repair it, but did not do so, and as a result the person who damaged the Dekoskie car secured entrance to the building through the Siller door, where the lock was broken.

Mr. Siller, on the other hand, denies that he is responsible. The case when taken to court promises to be interesting. Who is guilty of damaging the Dekoskie car is not known at this time.

LERONDE OFF FOR PARIS. Will Report To Government On Silesian Conditions.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Berlin, July 22.—General Leronde, head of the Inter-Allied High Commission in Upper Silesia, has left Oppeln for Paris via Prague to make a report to his government, according to information received here from Oppeln today.

General Derbantes, a French officer, and General Gielagsky, a Polish officer, have headed a joint commission, and it is charged by the Germans that this joint commission is allowing the Poles to enter the French army of occupation in Upper Silesia.

TURKS RETIRE IN FAIR ORDER

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, July 22.—The Turkish cabinet at an extraordinary session in Constantinople discussed the advisability of appealing to the allied powers to intervene in Anatolia to stop the war between the Turkish Nationalists and the Greeks, said an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Constantinople today.

The Greeks have advanced 20 miles eastward from Eski-Shehr, but sustained 5,000 casualties in the fighting in that sector of the battlefield, according to an Athens dispatch to the Daily Express.

The Athens correspondent of the Daily Express said that the Turkish prisoners in the Eski-Shehr are now estimated at 6,000, although they had previously been estimated as high as 30,000.

The Turks retired in fair order from Eski-Shehr, after recovering from the Greek surprise attack. It is believed that the Turks will make their next decisive stand upon high ground sixty miles east of Eski-Shehr.

LONG TARIFF FIGHT IN SENATE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, July 22.—The demands of sectional and special interests for changes in the Fordney tariff bill as it passed the house are pouring in upon the senate finance committee today in a veritable flood.

Spokesmen for these interests are arriving in anticipation of the public hearings on the bill which the committee will begin on Monday.

There are indications that the tariff fight will be waged all over again when the bill is reported to the senate. The house leaders were able to choke off debate and amendments by invoking a special rule. The senate does not possess such a rule. Closure is the only "last rule" the senate possesses. A two-thirds vote is necessary to enforce it. The house leaders can claim on a special rule with a majority vote.

J. A. REILLY DROPPED DEAD

J. A. Reilly, an Irish 4 decades railroad engineer, dropped dead Friday evening in the home of his daughter-in-law in Cincinnati. Death was due to acute indigestion. He had had his supper and some down town, and not feeling well had seen a physician. He left the doctor's office and was walking homeward when he met his sister-in-law and went home with her. Dr. Reilly was a former president of the city council in Cincinnati, and was a prominent figure in the city for many years.

IRISH PEACE HANGS ON 1 POINT

Sean Fein Abandons Demand for Republic While Wants to Dominate Irish Government While Ulster Men Want Equal Voice.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, July 22.—Peace negotiations between England and Ireland marked time today. The next move is up to Ireland. The Ulster Unionists requested Premier Lloyd-George to make a statement in the House of Commons on Monday regarding the Irish peace situation, but it is doubtful if he accedes unless a formal communication has been received from Eamonn De Valera in the meantime.

According to the Daily Mail the only rock upon which the negotiations are sticking is the question of representation in any Irish government that may be established.

The London Times understands that the Sinn Fein has relinquished its demand for a republic and that this phase of the situation no longer plays an important part in the negotiations.

Dublin, July 22.—Eamonn De Valera, who arrived here last night with Premier Lloyd-George's peace offer, made a report today to the high chiefs of the Sinn Fein.

De Valera no longer lives in secret and his public appearance on the streets today called forth renewed ovations. The reception given him upon his return from London was one of the biggest and most spectacular in the history of this city.

That De Valera is convinced of the success of the Irish cause is shown by the following brief statement: "This is not the time to talk shop. One of the magnificent lessons of the past few years is that nations do not achieve freedom by speech making. If we act in the future as we have acted during the past few years we will not have to talk about freedom. We shall have it."

Among the first persons consulted by De Valera upon his arrival here were Michael Collins, commander in chief of the Irish Republican army, and Arthur Griffith, founder of the Sinn Fein.

SEIZE NEW GRAND HOTEL LIQUOR

By Telegram to The Freeman.
State Troopers on Wednesday night visited the New Grand Hotel at Highmount in search of liquor. They were armed with a search warrant.

The net result of their search was one bottle of Scotch whiskey, one bottle of brandy, five quarts of champagne and a tin can which the Troopers claim contained alcohol.

Frank Selden, proprietor of the hotel, demanded a hearing.

FIRST BAR ON WHEELS TAKEN

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, July 22.—"Booze" was being peddled at fifty cents a throw from the first rolling bar, now in captivity, to make its appearance here early today.

Police on duty around 88th street noticed the magnetic effect of a limousine pulled up against the curb on a group of sailors and others who kept drifting out of a neighboring dance hall and over to the car. Upon investigation they found the occupants had been selling so called whiskey from their rolling saloon at 50 cents a throw.

The transitory bar-keeper and his companions melted into the crowd of customers when the officers appeared and escaped. Ten pints and a quart and an excellent car was the haul.

TROOPERS MAKE BIG LIQUOR RAID

State police under the direction of District Attorney Wilson raided five hotels in the Greenwood Lake district Thursday night, and seized a huge quantity of what is alleged to be liquor. Two automobiles were required to carry the stuff seized and four arrests were made. In only one of the five resorts visited did the police fail to find goods regarded as unlawful. In one, a charge of selling is also to be made and in another a slot machine was taken. The raid was the most important in the matter of results since the big raid in Newburgh, the spoils being worth several thousands of dollars.

Those arrested included the following named: Coe Ten Eyck, Valley House; Andrew Charles Kase, Mountain Spring Hotel; James Connell, Warwick Woodland, and Thomas Drak, The Grange. In all of these places a greater or less quantity of what is alleged to be liquor was found. At Grange it is alleged liquor was sold openly and a charge of selling will also be made. At Connell's it is charged, a slot machine was also in operation. All of the search warrants were made returnable to Judge Wickers in Westbury on August 1. The hotel of Julius Brande was also visited but in this nothing suspicious was found.

SHIPLOAD OF LIQUOR FROM BERMUDA IS SEIZED AT NEW HAVEN

Jennie T., an Auxiliary Sloop, and 18 Men Involved Are In Police Custody—Fraction of Cargo Unloaded Is Worth $50,000.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New Haven, Conn., July 22.—Thirty policemen, heavily armed, swooped down on the waterfront here this morning, seized a shipload of liquor and arrested 18 men who were unloading it, among whom were several prominent New Haven business men.

The "precious" cargo, consisting of hundreds of cases of gin, Scotch whiskey and champagne, was being transferred from the sloop to a fleet of trucks when the police arrived.

Among those arrested were J. Harman Bronson, well known sportsman and business man; P. P. Sperry, a druggist of Westville; Braxton Mesick, Joseph Miller, Maxwell Bruders, Floyd O'Connor and David Chierione. The latter is said by the police to have aided the financing of the deal.

All those arrested were locked up in the city jail. Only one of them, Bronson, had been able to secure bail this forenoon.

The vessel seized was the auxiliary sloop Jennie T. Chief of Police Smith, who headed the raiding party, seized her papers and took complete charge of the ship and its contents, throwing a heavy guard around the dock. The part of the cargo which was on the trucks was taken to headquarters. It alone is valued at $50,000.

From the ship's papers and information which the police have, they said the booze came from the Bermudas.

LATIN-AMERICA BACKS CONFERENCE

Small Nations Seem To Realize That Quicker Disarmament Will Result From Small Number of Envoys And Are Willing To Let U. S. Talk For Them.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, July 22.—Although Latin-America, and those nations which border on the Pacific, are displaying the keenest interest in President Harding's disarmament and Far Eastern conference, not one of these nations has yet made representations to the United States seeking a seat at the conference table. It was learned at the state department today.

Practically every Latin-American ambassador and minister who has called at the state department since announcement was made of the president's plan, it was learned today, has expressed deep interest in the conference and has warm hopes for its success.

No secret is made of the fact that virtually all of the Latin-American governments would be highly pleased to receive an invitation to participate, but so far there has been little or no disposition to take offence because they were not included.

There is a general feeling among the republics in the south, diplomats stated, that this is essentially a conference of the great powers, and while they will watch the proceedings closely, they appreciate the contention of Secretary Hughes that the conference must necessarily be limited, and they have not the slightest disposition to embarrass the state department in the course he has seen fit to take.

Disarmament is distinctly popular in Mexico, Central America and South America at the present time, and there can be no doubt of the willingness of nations included in these groups to follow the lead of the United States in this direction. President Obregon, is rapidly reducing the Mexican army and the cutting down of military establishments is one of the chief arguments advanced in favor of the union of Central American republics.

Ambassador Mathieu, of Chile, who was at one time minister of war in the Chilean government, expressed himself as heartily in support of the movement initiated by President Harding, and pointed out that Chile and Argentina are pioneers in the disarmament movement, having signed an agreement years ago under the terms of which they not only cancelled contracts placed abroad for warships, but also dismantled war vessels already in commission. Ambassador Pexet of Peru also is in full accord with the proposal for reduction of armies and navies.

Senator Manuel Teller, charge d'affaires of the Mexican embassy, stated there is widespread interest in disarmament in Mexico.

Latin-American nations bordering on the Pacific have manifested no inclination to insist upon representation in the conference because of their possible interest in the discussion of the Pacific questions. They appreciate the fact that while the proposed conference has been characterized as a Pacific conference, it will have to do mainly with questions of the far Pacific, rather than the eastern areas of the ocean. They expect, however, to be consulted before any decisions are reached in matters in which they have a direct interest, such as immigration, commerce and cable or wireless communications.

In this connection, the action of the state department in notifying the governments of Belgium, The Netherlands and Portugal, that because of their non-indicated interests in the Pacific, they would be given hearing even though they are not to have regular delegations in the conference, has tended to quiet any misgivings Latin-Americans may have had as to their part in the conference.

Practically every Latin-American country is expected to have representatives in Washington during the conference where duty it shall be to keep their government and the people informed of what is going on in the conference.

AMATLAN FIRE.

Contrary Reports As To Mexican Oil Conflagration.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Mexico City, July 23.—It was reported from Tampico today that the fire in the Amatlan oil fields had flared up beyond control and that 15 oil wells were on fire.

The government reported, however, that according to official advice only four wells were burning. A German technician, who is said to have exclusive knowledge of a chemical which he claims will extinguish the fire, has departed for Amatlan. His services are understood to have been retained by American oil interests.

PHYSICIANS TO FIGHT IT OUT

But it will be at Baseball, and Staffs of Kingston City and Benedictine Hospitals Will be the Contenders—Date Not Fixed Yet.

Plans are being made to arrange a baseball game between the staffs of the Kingston City Hospital and the Benedictine Hospital to be staged later in the summer at the Athletic Field. The proceeds will be divided equally between the two hospitals. Dr. Larkin is in charge of the Benedictine squad while Dr. Johnston has been assigned the task of rounding up eight others from the city hospital.

As soon as the teams are matched and the date fixed, due announcement of the thrilling event will be chronicled in these columns. It has been several years since the physicians of the city have jostled about the diamond and there are many ball fans who do not remember that famous game between the members of the police department and the doctors. Just who won the writer has forgotten.

There are some good players among the physicians and a good game could be played if the event can be arranged.

Shot Resisting Troopers.

Corporal Rooney and Trooper Baker of the State Troopers whose headquarters are at Sidney, Delaware county, several days ago shot and seriously wounded Floyd Johnson, who was with his wife in camp near Afton, and for whom they had a warrant charging him with robbery. Both troopers were in civilian dress. Johnson thought they were highwaymen and seized an axe, calling to his wife to get a gun. Johnson has been taken to the Binghamton city hospital, where his condition is said to be critical.

The Pit Didn't Grow.

For thirty years Fred Meloy of Cairo, Greene county, carried a cherry pit in his right ear, the pit having been placed there when he was a boy. Different physicians tried to remove it but without success. On Sunday, however, Dr. Persons of Cairo, after careful preparation, extracted the pit.

OUTDOOR SERVICE AT "Y" SUNDAY

The open air services conducted by the Y. M. C. A. are now proving popular and successful. The attendance was a good sized one last Sunday evening and the Rev. A. S. Cole preached an able sermon.

The seating is so arranged that all are within hearing distance of the speaker. Automobiles are parked in such a way that the occupants can enter into the services without leaving their cars. The music is proving to be an attraction and all enter heartily into the song service. A soloist will be present and participate this coming Sunday night.

The Rev. W. J. Nelson, the new pastor of the English Lutheran Church, will be the speaker the night of the 24th. The song service begins at 7:30 p. m. and a cordial invitation is extended to all to invite their friends to this service, which is held at the corner of Broadway and Pine Grove avenue.

"Y" BOYS ENJOY CAMP ORANGE

Camp Orange, Cedar Lake, Interstate Park, N. Y., July 23. Fifteen boys in charge of N. A. Dillinger and Fred Meeker arrived here recently from the Y. M. C. A. of Kingston. The boys had a very enjoyable auto ride to the camp site on Lake Cedar, having an opportunity to view the wonderful mountain scenery of the park. The park is freely sprinkled with various camps from all parts of the state.

Camp Orange is situated on a bluff overlooking Cedar Lake and affords an ideal camp site. Nearly fifty other boys from various parts of Orange county are also at the camp. The boys are located in three fine cottages. A large mess hall equipped with a large fire place is one of the popular places of the camp, both at meal time and in the evening, where the camp fires are held and many enjoyable evenings spent.

A number of Kingston boys are taking advantage of the fine swimming and boating. Oscar Wiberg, one of the younger boys, qualified as a swimmer and is now allowed special swimming privileges as a reward.

The majority of the boys are participating in a contest in woodcraft which will entitle them to a camp emblem. Robert Judkins and Karl Messinger are making especially good showings in this contest. On fast Tuesday afternoon, a basketball team made up of Camp Orange boys played a basketball game against a Y. M. H. A. team New Jersey. While beaten and outweighed by their opponents, they displayed a great deal of ability. Floyd Burger and Cutler Brown starred for the Orange team, and were in fact the bright lights of the entire game.

On Thursday morning all of the boys took part in a hike to Arden and return, making a trip of nearly fifteen miles.

All of the boys stood the trip well and returned in good spirits for a good swim and exhibition at the mess table. Thursday's menu for dinner consisted of tomato soup, Irish stew, bread and butter, cocoa and ice cream. The meals have been pretty good, and while not over eating, all have sufficient to keep them in the best of physical condition. The nights are very clear and invigorating. All campers are asleep by 9:30 and all is quiet until the bugler's call arouses the boys in the morning.

All of the boys are in good health and there have been no casualties or injuries aside from a few cases of sunburn. Tuesday, July 26, will be Field Day. At this time the camp athletics will be held in which every boy will take part. About 150 visitors are expected, including a number from Kingston, who will make the trip from there by auto. All relatives or friends of the Colonial City boys are invited for that day.

The Magic Word.

Collier's Weekly says: "In Ohio there is one of the world's model factories. It manufactures a product known and sold the world around. It has made the man who founded it and who still owns it very rich. What is more important, it has proved the training ground for many men who have left to go into other lines of business and have, in many instances, themselves become heads of big business enterprises. A visitor on being shown through the plant notices printed cards prominently placed on the walls of office and factory rooms bearing the single word—'Think.'"

Good Liquor For Poor.

County Judge Tallmadge of Greene county has solved the problem of what to do with liquor for which state troopers have been searching in various places. Of the liquor seized, three bottles were found to contain real Gordon gin and the judge ordered them turned over to the county almshouse. The other bottles, which contained gin of an inferior quality and other stuff of doubtful quality, were ordered destroyed.

Hupmobile

Perhaps the first thing a Hupmobile owner thinks of in connection with his car, is the way it keeps going and the small cost of continuous service.

A shop lay-up is rare; and when it does come, the repairs are usually minor, if occasioned by ordinary use. That keeps down the upkeep.

Gasoline and oil and tires are items far under the ordinary, you would be told.

So the Hupmobile owner figures that his car is worth what it costs; and finds himself confirmed by the good price he receives when he sells it.

Burroughs Nature Club Notes

What do you know about Nature Subjects? Send any questions of general interest to the Nature Notes Department of this paper. Look for answers in this column.

Can You Answer These Questions?

1. Are angle worms the same as earth worms, and if so, how did they get the name?

2. In making a web, how does a spider get from one place to another to make the first line?

3. Is the Carolina parakeet extinct?

Answers in Monday's Nature Notes.

Notes.

Answers To Previous Questions.

1. I have tried carrying worms for bait to our country place on the coast where they are scarce, but they die. How can I feed them?

Supposing "worms" to mean earth or angle worms, they must have dampish dirt to burrow in and swallow, both for mechanical action (as birds eat gravel), and apparently for some microscopic nutritive organisms. They like tender green stuff, such as cabbage, green leaves, fruit, etc., and are said to eat shredded beef. Try keeping your worms packed in damp earth and moss, and immediately on arrival, place them in a good sized box of earth, throwing in some of the food suggested.

2. I have a dozen wild ducks just hatched. What shall I feed them?

Raising wild ducks is feasible under proper conditions, but diet and hygiene for young is too elaborate to quote here. Readers wanting to experiment in rearing wild ducks or quail, grouse, or pheasants, are referred to the two bulletins sold at cost by the National Association of Audubon Societies, 1974 Broadway, N. Y. City.—Propagation of Wild Water Fowl, and Propagation of Upland Game Birds.

3. How should poison-ivy infection be treated?

If poison-ivy has been touched with bare hands, never wash the affected skin with plain water, as this simply spreads the non-volatile oil from the vine that does the poisoning. Soak from laundry soap will help if nothing better is on hand. Or strong solution of baking soda and water. A dram of calomel to a pint of lime water is a good wash. Zinc ointment can be used after the first irritation is allayed.

FINAL PLANS FOR BIG CONVENTION

The local committee of the Knights of Pythias met Friday night to make final arrangements for the convention next week. The first session will arrive today, although the convention will not start until Monday evening. All possible reservations at the local hotels have been taken and several hundred rooms have been obtained in rooming and private houses.

The meeting Monday evening at the high school will be open to the public. There will be an entertaining musical and speaking program. The grand ball and reception at the armory on Tuesday night will be semi-public, as no admission is to be charged but a card is required.

The program at Forsyth Park and the drills of the Uniformed Services of America on Wednesday afternoon will also be open to the public. The parade for Wednesday evening will start at Academy Green at 7:30 o'clock and go to Delaware avenue and return. Upon the return a block party will be held on Maiden Lane between Clinton and Albany avenues. The excursion to West Point will take place on Thursday afternoon. The program involves much work on the part of the local committee, and they ask the support of the public to attend the public meetings and ceremonies.

The local executive committee are William H. Stork, Walter T. Elston, Harold Sharot, William S. McDonough, William W. Taylor, and ex-officio, Grand Chancellor Canfield, Michael H. Marks of New York city, and Guy C. Crosby.

AMATEUR FIRE.

Contrary Reports As To Mexican Oil Conflagration.

By Telegram to the Freeman. Mexico City, July 23.—It was reported from Tampico today that the fire in the Amatlan oil fields had flared up beyond control and that 15 oil wells were on fire.

The government reported, however, that according to official advice only four wells were burning. A German technician, who is said to have exclusive knowledge of a chemical which he claims will extinguish the fire, has departed for Amatlan. His services are understood to have been retained by American oil interests.

PHYSICIANS TO FIGHT IT OUT

But It Will Be at Baseball, and Staffs of Kingston City and Benedictine Hospitals Will Be the Contenders—Date Not Fixed Yet.

Plans are being made to arrange a baseball game between the staffs of the Kingston City Hospital and the Benedictine Hospital to be staged later in the summer at the Athletic field. The proceeds will be divided equally between the two hospitals. Dr. Larkin is in charge of the Benedictine staff while Dr. Johnston has been assigned the task of rounding up eight others from the city hospital.

As soon as the teams are matched and the date fixed, due announcement of the thrilling event will be chronicled in these columns. It has been several years since the physicians of the city have jugged about the diamond and there are many ball fans who do not remember that famous game between the members of the police department and the doctors. Just who won the writer has forgotten.

There are some good players among the physicians and a good game could be played if the event can be arranged.

Shot Resisting Troopers.
Corporal Rooney and Trooper Baker of the State Troopers whose headquarters are at Sidney, Delaware county, several days ago shot and seriously wounded Floyd Johnson, who was with his wife in camp near Afton, and for whom they had a warrant charging him with robbery. Both troopers were in civilian dress. Johnson thought they were highwaymen and seized an axe, calling to his wife to get a gun. Johnson has been taken to the Binghamton city hospital, where his condition is said to be critical.

The Pit Didn't Grow.

For thirty years Fred Maloy of Cairo, Greene county, carried a cherry pit in his right ear, the pit having been placed there when he was a boy. Different physicians tried to remove it but without success. On Sunday, however, Dr. Persons of Cairo, after careful preparation, extracted the pit.

OUTDOOR SERVICE AT "Y" SUNDAY

The open air services conducted by the Y. M. C. A. are now proving popular and successful. The attendance was a good sized one last Sunday evening and the Rev. A. S. Cole preached an able sermon.

The seating is so arranged that all are within hearing distance of the speaker. Automobiles are parked in such a way that the occupants can enter into the services without leaving their cars. The music is proving to be an attraction and all enter heartily into the song service. A soloist will be present and participate this coming Sunday night.

The Rev. W. J. Nelson, the new pastor of the English Lutheran Church, will be the speaker the night of the 24th. The song service begins at 7:30 p. m., and a cordial invitation is extended to all to invite their friends to this service, which is held at the corner of Broadway and Pine Grove avenue.

SUNDAY CONCERT AT THE "POINT"

The Citizens' Band will render two more of their popular concerts at Kingston Point Park on Sunday, the afternoon concert at 2:30 and the evening concert at 8 o'clock. Harry C. Malsenholder, the director, has arranged the following program:

"Y" BOYS ENJOY CAMP ORANGE

Camp Orange, Cedar Lake, Interstate Park, N. Y., July 23. Fifteen boys in charge of N. A. Dillinger and Fred Meeker arrived here recently from the Y. M. C. A. of Kingston. The boys had a very enjoyable auto ride to the camp site on Lake Cedar, having an opportunity to view the wonderful mountain scenery of the park. The park is freely sprinkled with various camps from all parts of the state.

Camp Orange is situated on a bluff overlooking Cedar Lake and affords an ideal camp site. Nearly fifty other boys from various parts of Orange county are also at the camp. The boys are located in three fine cottages. A large mess hall equipped with a large fire place is one of the popular places of the camp, both at meal time and in the evening, where the camp fires are held and many enjoyable evenings spent.

A number of Kingston boys are taking advantage of the fine swimming and boating. Oscar Wiberg, one of the younger boys, qualified as a swimmer and is now allowed special swimming privileges as a reward.

The majority of the boys are participating in a contest in woodcraft which will entitle them to a camp emblem. Robert Jenkins and Karl Messinger are making especially good showings in this contest. On last Tuesday afternoon, a basketball team made up of Camp Orange boys played a basketball game against a Y. M. H. A. team from New Jersey. While beaten and outwitted by their opponents, they displayed a great deal of ability. Floyd Burger and Cutler Brown starred for the Orange team, and were in fact the bright lights of the entire game.

On Thursday morning all of the boys took part in a hike to Arden and return, making a trip of nearly fifteen miles.

All of the boys stood the trip well and returned in good spirits for a good swim and exhibition at the mess table. Thursday's menu for dinner consisted of tomato soup, Irish stew, bread and butter, cocoa and ice cream. The meals have been pretty good, and while not over eating, all have sufficient to keep them in the best of physical condition. The nights are very clear and invigorating. All campers are asleep by 9:30 and all is quiet until the bugler's call arouses the boys in the morning.

All of the boys are in good health and there have been no casualties or injuries aside from a few cases of sunburn. Tuesday, July 26, will be Field Day. At this time the camp athletics will be held in which every boy will take part. About 150 visitors are expected, including a number from Kingston, who will make the trip from there by auto. All relatives or friends of the Colonial City boys are invited for that day.

The Magic Word.
Cotton's Weekly says: "In 1916 there was one of the world's model factories. It manufactured a perfect soap and sold the world around. It had made the man who founded it and who still owns it very rich. What is more important, it has proved the training ground for many men who have left to go into other lines of business and have, in many instances, become famous heads of big business enterprises. A visitor on foot down through the plant noticed printed cards prominently placed on the walls of the factory reading: 'This is the magic word—THINK.'"

THE OFFICE CAT

By Junius

An ex-ses captain, expostulating with his pretty daughter, exclaimed: "This is a fine time to be coming home after motoring with that lubber!"

"But, daddy," explained his daughter, "we were becalmed. The wind died down in one of the tires and we had to wait for it to spring up again."

Smack! In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love. And his youthful soul is filled with exultation.

He is happy just because The girls who make our laws Somehow overlooked a tax on osculation.

"When we were married," said Brown, "my wife and I made an agreement that I should make the rulings in all the major things and she in all the minor ones."

"And how has it worked?" Black inquired.

Brown smiled wily. "So far," he replied, "no major matters have come up."

Good Liquor For Poor.

County Judge Tallmadge of Greene county has solved the problem of what to do with liquor for which state troopers have been searching in various places. Of the liquor seized, three bottles were found to contain real Gordon gin and the judge ordered them turned over to the county almshouse. The other bottles, which contained gin of an inferior quality and other stuff of doubtful quality, were ordered destroyed.

Herman arrived Friday aboard the steamer from England and said he was in fine physical condition.

Provident Home-makers will Keep Next Tuesday Open For the first—fullest—and finest survey of The Wanamaker Great August Sale of Furniture in New York

UNLIMITED range of choice from a collection of good furniture that is without counterpart except in our Philadelphia store at prices that take us back to good old pre-war days.

This will be the significance of attending the Sale on the first of its customary days, July 26 (Tuesday next).

It is why so many folks, from among the hundreds who will make long journeys to attend it, from far and lonesome corners of the continent as well as from urban centers where local sales of furniture are even then being held, will make it a point to be present here on the first day.

Nothing can quite match the pleasure of the sight, no benefit quite match the benefit of selection, when that vast and finely arranged display lies spread before you in its impressive entirety, before the pieces have commenced to move out.

Everybody has Furniture longings—This sale can satisfy them!

Viewed and reviewed to your heart's content, not a specimen will be found, among the different pieces shown on the three floors devoted to the Sale, that is not a credit to the store—and to its purchaser—in its quality and its looks.

Not a price-ticket but bears a figure HONESTLY lowered from the market rate.

If the longing be to purchase within a certain limit of price, know this for a fact:

This Furniture Sale, starting July 26, offers greater values than at any other time or any other place

Should your longing be for something finer in quality than the average, different in appearance from the commonplace furnishings of the homes of the million, superior in construction to that "cheap" furniture which is never inexpensive, even a glance around the floors here will convince you that judged even by the exacting Wanamaker standards, we have—

Better values than at any time before

More than half the stock is offered at one-third and one-half less than standard prices.

Even in the half price groups are matched suites of living room, dining-room and bed room furniture.

In all, the stock includes more than $1,000,000 worth of fine Wanamaker furniture, with several hundred thousand dollars worth of special purchases and $200,000 more on call to come in during the month.

Even Belmison reproductions on Fourth Gallery—very unusual stock—are included in the sale.

Some of the special lots

Hupmobile

Perhaps the first thing a Hupmobile owner thinks of in connection with his car, is the way it keeps going and the small cost of continuous service. A cheap lay-up is rare; and when it does come, the repairs are usually minor, if occasioned by ordinary use. That keeps down the upkeep. Gasoline and oil and tires are items for under the ordinary, you would be told. So the Hupmobile owner figures that his car is worth what it costs; and finds himself confused by the good price he receives when he sells it.

KINGSTON, N. Y., JULY 23, 1921.

RAZZLE-DAZZLE

Capital writhes under the oppressive and grasping tactics of certain type of labor agitators and demagogues.

Labor fulminates against certain types of unscrupulous and oppressive capitalists.

Capital and labor expend much energy in useless fighting and squabbling, due to lack of understanding.

This is costly, in a direct way, but more costly in an indirect way, because it diverts the attention of both capital and labor from the activities of those who prey on both.

While capital and labor squabble both are paying, in voluntary or involuntary taxation, for the support of an aggregation of faddists and meddlers, official and unofficial, who are engaged in "regulating" or "uplifting" everybody and everything.

There are too many men and women receiving big salaries for spending the money that other men and women earn by hard and necessary labor.

There is too much time and authority used by official and unofficial bodies in inducing real workers to spend money and time for needless things. Too much preaching. Too much dreaming. Too much razzle-dazzle that diverts attention from real things.

Think it over and apply it to conditions local as well as general.

STREET DANCING.

This year the festivities of the Paris celebration of the fall of Bastille included performances by more than six hundred dancing parties on open squares and streets through all sections of the French capital. Street dancing is now encouraged or tolerated in some of our American centers of population also, and in an editorial reference to the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin says: "The experiment of public street dancing, initiated at a few squares last year, and now being carried out each Thursday evening on the Parkway, is meeting with sufficient popular approval to warrant its extension another year. Suitable places, no doubt, can be found in many sections of the city where communal festivities of the sort can be carried on to the satisfaction of the lads and lassies, of mature as well as youthful years. It is an idea in popular effervescence that is worth trying out in all seriousness."

The editor quoted pointedly adds that such open air dancing "will be more healthful physically and morally than that of the majority of dance halls." There is, however, one objection that is worthy of consideration. The encouragement of street dancing on a considerable scale is sure to arouse protest among great numbers of people who seem displeased when they see others enjoying themselves and are prone to discover sin in such enjoyment, no matter what its particular character. For this reason there is risk involved. If street dancing should spread to the smaller cities and towns a crusade against it would undoubtedly follow, and in all probability we should witness in no great while the adoption of a constitutional amendment prohibiting dancing of any sort and in any place whatsoever.

Votes for "forty immortals" among living British writers sent to a London literary journal give preference to Thomas Hardy, Rudyard Kipling, H. G. Wells, J. M. Barrie and Bernard Shaw in the order named. Many critical readers in America and probably also in England regard Joseph Conrad as a greater writer than any of these, with the single exception of Thomas Hardy.

The Germans desire and confidently expect a war between the United States and Japan and the majority are said to want Japan to win. But a naturalized German in Paterson, N. J., wanted his adopted country to win and his will leaves a prize to the crew of the first American warship to sink a Japanese naval vessel.

Prof. Einstein's assertion that "women dominate the entire life of America" does not please all American women, for Mrs. Forsythe, former president of the New York Interborough association of teachers, reports: "I have always believed that too much credit was given to him for his so-called discoveries."

The Government would get much less than the calculated revenue from a tax-stamp on bank checks because the number of checks now written would be greatly reduced, money being drawn out in bulk and many bills paid in cash as was done during the Spanish-American war.

An exhibition of American paintings, said to be by our best artists, has been scorchingly criticised in Paris. Perhaps the American artist, like the American laborer, is in those times inclined to "lay down on the job." Not even a genius can do that and win.

The Georgia white man is not always walking on the neck of the black, as recent news items and editorial comments have doubtless inclined many readers to believe. A $50,000 public library for negroes has just been dedicated in Atlanta.

IN MEMORY OF JEWISH LEADERS

(By Joseph Miller of Kingston, a rabbinical student in the New York Seminary.)

On Sunday evening, July 24, at 8 o'clock at the Congregation Agudas Achaim on West Union street a monster memorial meeting will be held to commemorate the seventeenth anniversary of the death of Dr. Theodore Herzl and the first anniversary of the brutal murder of Professor Israel Friedlander and Rabbi Bernard Cantor, the accredited representatives of American Jewry on their mission of mercy in far away Ukraine.

Dr. Herzl acquired a high reputation as a serious journalist and dramatist. All his claims to renown, however, sink into insignificance when compared with his work as a reviver of Jewish hopes, for a restoration of a Jewish homeland. To accomplish so great a task as self-restoration the Jews must first organize. For this purpose Herzl called together the Zionist congress. For the first time in two thousand years delegates representing Jews the world over assembled at Basle, Switzerland, on August 27, 1897, to discuss the Jewish problem. Herzl was elected president of the organized world Zionists and was re-elected unanimously at every congress. The basic program adopted at the first Zionist congress defined the aim and purpose of political Zionism to be "the establishment for the Jewish people of a publicly and legally assured home in Palestine."

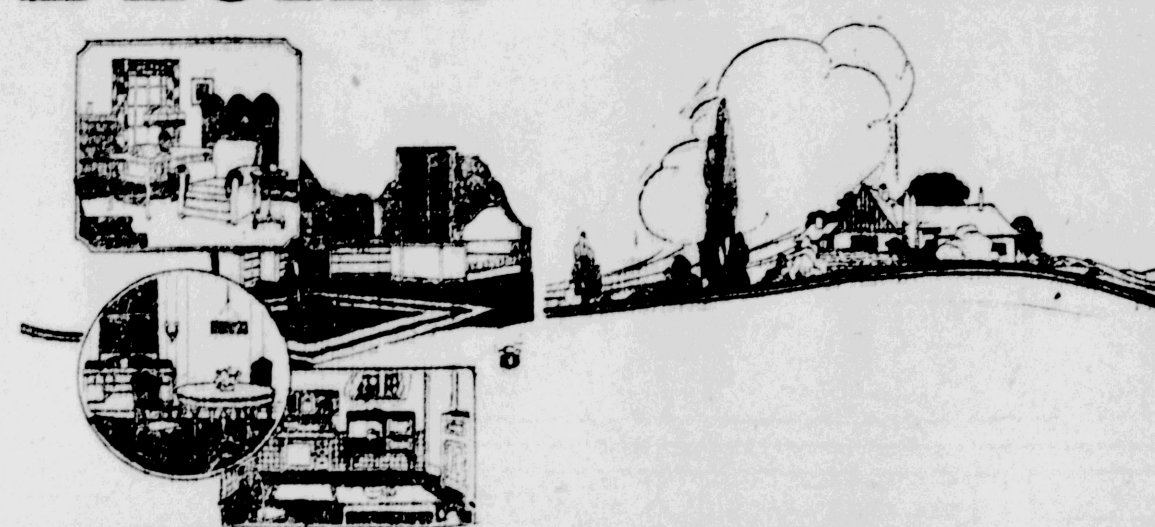

Herzl's life was a strenuous one. In the course of his diplomatic activity he had received expressions of good will from the prime ministers and rulers of most of the European states. But due to his over strenuous labors his health failed him. On July 3, 1904, in the forty-fourth year of his age, Theodore Herzl died a martyr in his devotion to the movement and the consternation of supporters and deep grief of the opponents of his Zionist aims.

Beyond question Dr. Herzl was the most influential Jewish personality of the nineteenth century. He brought home to the Jews the perils that confronted them; he compelled many a semi-detached son of Israel to rejoin the camp. His ideas gave new impulses to Jewish culture including the popularization of Hebrew as a living language. Herzl was the only Jewish statesman of modern times who had devoted himself to the service of his people. His fascinating personality and his diplomatic tact had made him the spokesman of his brethren. He had found the Jewish question a philanthropic one; he left it an economic and diplomatic one. As an upholder of Jewish ideals and a liberator of Jews from mental and moral serfdom he stands almost unique in Jewish annals.

The meeting this Sunday evening will also be devoted to an appreciation of Professor Friedlander and Rabbi Cantor. Both of these men were Americans, honored and respected by Jew and Gentile. Rabbi Cantor was by far the younger man. He was an assistant to Dr. Stephen S. Wise of the Free Synagogue and gave promise of an active life. Israel Friedlander was professor of Bible and Philosophy at the Jewish Theological Seminary of America. He was one of the very great linguists in the United States. In American Jewry he was known as the champion of modern traditional Judaism, defending it both against the Ultra-Orthodox and the Reform wing of Judaism. In his relation to his fellow men he was a kindly and gentle souled man who bore no enmities and harbored no ill will toward any man. That such a man should be struck down in cold blood by cowardly murderers serves but to accentuate the tragedy.

Professor Friedlander with his young friend Rabbi Cantor willingly undertook the dangerous mission of serving their brethren in the Ukraine. Professor Friedlander could have served his people here in America or in less dangerous fields. But it was not in his heart to remain in calm activity when his people were drowning in oceans of blood. He went knowing full well the dangers that beset his path. He craved an outlet for his unquenchable desire to serve his people. He died as he had lived, serving the Jewish people whom he had loved so well and to whom he had dedicated his life. It has already been truly said that he was a soldier's death, "killed in action, on the field of glory." Like a true soldier he left his wife and five small children and sacrificed everything that was near and dear to him. But unlike other soldiers he went not to kill, but to help and succor.

It was on the nineteenth of July in the city of Yarmolintz that the bodies of Professor Israel Friedlander and Rabbi Bernard Cantor were discovered, victims of cruel blood-thirsty mobs. The news of the murder of these great Americans, bestirred world Jewry as no incident has. The chronicles of modern Jewish history will for generations to come teach the lesson of these two noble sons of the Jewish people and stand out as shining examples as the highest type of sacrifice.

The memory of the cruel fate of these great martyrs, representatives in Ukraine is yet fresh in the hearts of Americans. Kingston Jewry in unison with all Jewry will honor the memory of these great martyrs together with that of Dr. Theodore Herzl. AT THE THEATRES.

"Heliotrope" At Keeneys—Elaine Hammerstein At Auditorium.

A gift of flowers from her husband! And their perfume froze her soul! For now she knew that "Heliotrope Harry" was free, out of prison to save his daughter's happiness, out to wreak vengeance on this inhuman blackmailing mother. Yet he never lifted a hand against her, his victory was far more terrible—far more noble than that. As "Humoresque" stands as a great story of a mother, so "Heliotrope" stands as one of the greatest stories of father-love ever filmed. It will be presented again tonight at Keeneys. "Torrey's Double Triumph" is the comedy attraction. Monday William Russell in "Children of the Night," a stirring romance of evil plotting and fierce battles for life and love.

"The Daughter Pays" at the Auditorium tonight is a story of revenge, only this story is an exception to the rule. Elaine Hammerstein has one of the best starring vehicles she has yet appeared in. "Fantomas," the mystery serial, is also programmed. Monday Edith Roberts in "Thunder Island," the amazing adventures of a little stow-away on a pearl-stealer in the lawless tropics.

FRUIT MEN MET IN POUGHKEEPSIE

Fruit growers of the Hudson Valley gathered in large numbers Friday in Poughkeepsie to discuss ways and means of coordinating the work of the many packing house associations recently formed in this section to secure the best results in handling and marketing fruits.

A. B. Bucholtz, farm bureau agent of Columbia County who made the trip around New York city with a hundred other invited guests July 18, 19 and 20, explained the present and proposed market facilities in the big city.

Thomas E. Cross, of La Grangeville, attended the sessions as president of the New York State Horticultural Society. Many fruit men from the "apple belt" of Dutchess and the fruit regions of Ulster and Orange were in attendance, together with these farm bureau agents:

S. G. Forbes of Rensselaer, L. W. Giffenden of Albany, L. S. Kibbs of Greene, E. L. Chase of Ulster, L. D. Greene of Orange, T. C. Murray of Schoharie, and L. G. Curtiss of Westchester.

The speakers included L. R. Stephens, assistant county agent leader and secretary of the Farm Bureau Federation Marketing Committee, with Chairman Pease of that body and a representative of the New York Packing House Association.

While there are many discouragements this year for fruit men, those attending Friday's conference were unanimous in saying that the fruit business is going to be helped very materially by using the sensible methods now proposed to be adopted. The central idea in the new method is to organize all growers into packing house associations, thus securing uniformity of grading, handling and reaching direct markets.

About twenty such groups are reported as being in existence now with three others in process of formation.

CERTO'S FAME SPREADS

Yes Product Is Great Aid To Jelly Makers.

Nothing short of a sensation, the manufacturers claim, has been the sales in Kingston of Certo, the new product for making jam or jellies. The record of last week shows that upward of 1,000 bottles were sold in this city.

Kingston is now in the height of the jelly making season with berries as the fundamental for both jelly and jam.

The importance which Certo bears in relation to the "housewives' effort" in this direction is fully explained in a two column advertisement which appears in today's Freeman. Fruits and fruit juices that never before would jelly, like cherry, pineapple, peach, etc., are now easily made into delicious jellies and jams with the addition of Certo, which is a pure fruit product, containing no chemical or preservative, its makers explain.

The 1921 National Council Seaplane of the Scouts, Boy Scouts of America, will be pitched on the grounds of the Taber academy, Marion, Mass. The camp will furnish equipment and space for three full ship's companies and some extra officers. Any scout, scout or cabin boy, weighing at least 102 pounds and at least 15 years of age is eligible to participate. The program will, like all scouting, be "fun and work mixed." The law of the camp is the scout law; trustworthy, loyal, helpful, friendly, courteous, kind, obedient, cheerful, thrifty, clean brave and reverent.

The training for the first ten days (July 6-16) will consist of the regular seaplane routine with elementary seamanship, life-saving and short cruises under oars. This will be followed by a long cruise down the bay for all hands in the Curlew's flotilla of boats, camping each noon on one of the many fascinating beaches and islands at hand. This will be the third annual cruise of the Curlew. The same program will be repeated July 28 to August 6; August 7 to 18. The 67-foot American schooner, Black Duck, under Ensign Cheatham of the Taber academy staff, will also cruise in Buzzard's bay manned by her regular crew and such seascouts as are "schooner men." General Goethals, chairman of the national scout committee, and other members of the committee will visit the camp from time to time.

THEY KNOW HOW TO DO IT.

Cooking Their Own Meals When on a Hike Is One of the Scouts' Specialties.

GETS MEDAL FOR BRAVE ACT.

The Court of Honor of the National council recently awarded a bronze medal to Harry C. Harper, a charter member of Salt Lake Troop No. 51, for his courage and prompt action in saving the life of a five-year-old child who was in danger of being dashed to death over an embankment in an automobile. The child was alone in his father's car and accidentally released the brakes, setting the machine moving backward toward the embankment. The child's screams attracted the attention of young Harper, who ran out from his own yard, jumped on the running board of the car and succeeded in stopping it, just as it balanced itself on two wheels on the edge. A moment's delay and both the child and the scout would probably have been crushed under the car. Harper is an Eagle scout and distinguished himself during the war, for his achievements in selling Liberty bonds and War Savings stamps. He was awarded medals for both these services and possesses the ace medal with five silver bars and the Liberty loan medal with bars of honor for each campaign.

SCOUTS TO HELP AIR SERVICE.

Washington scouts had the honor of laying the first marker "D. C. 1" for the new air route from Bolling Field to Dayton, Ohio, and plans are being made at the request of the federal air service for definite co-operation of boy scouts with the service. Some of the work which it is contemplated having scouts do will consist of helping aviators making forced landings, reporting adverse weather conditions, marking airways, guarding planes landed or broken, night signaling, dispatch work, reporting on terrain, etc.

A SCOUT IS TRUSTWORTHY.

Beaumont, Texas, scouts were asked to undertake the delivery of telephone books. "We used to go out into the streets and get the first kids we saw who weren't busy, to do the job," says the manager of the local telephone company. "As a result we frequently found a number of books that had been thrown away, and their loss was costly. So now we have the scouts deliver the books because we can trust them." Worth while praise that and worth deserving.

Photos of Fairies.

An Englishman claims to have made photographs of fairies which are not visible to the eye, but which the photographer says may be recorded on the photographic plate. There are many persons who have examined the prints and plates, but are not yet convinced.

MARY GRAHAM BONNER

A FUNNY STORY.

"Moo, moo," said Mrs. Cow, "I have a funny story to tell." And Mrs. Cow smiled a very funny cow smile.

Her big eyes looked at some of the other cows and she said: "Gather around me, Cows, and listen to my funny story."

So very slowly the cows got up and came over by Mrs. Cow, and listened to the story she had to tell.

"You know," said Mrs. Cow, "we give milk to the city people. Yes, the milk that we give is given to the city people."

"I don't know that I should actually use the word 'given,' for I don't believe the milk is given away."

"But we give the milk away, and then the milk is sold to the city people."

"Of course we shouldn't expect to be paid for the milk we give, as we are given board and lodging (which is very apt to be out-of-door lodging) in return for the milk we give."

"I am not complaining when I speak of the out-of-door lodging, for we usually like that kind best."

"And we're given excellent board and a lovely meadow for our home."

"Now, there are a number of us on different big farms who give this milk in return for board and lodging. Then the milk is sent to the city and the city people have it left in bottles by their doors in the morning."

"But the joke is that the milk company which sells our milk to the city people, tells all the city people that they are keeping tabs of, or looking after, 70,000 cows."

"That in itself isn't the joke. A joke should always come at the end of a funny story, or else it isn't a very funny story."

"No one wants their jokes in the middle of a story, or I've never heard of anyone who did."

"But I am coming to the end of my story, and I am coming to the joke."

"The joke is that even in the city they like to hear about cows. Isn't that a joke on them? They like to know that their milk comes from fine healthy cows who eat right and who are well looked after, and who are watched over by excellent farmers and inspectors and by cow doctors who see that we live in healthful surroundings.

"They like to know all this, and so the milk company tells the people all this."

"But they tell them by writing it in notices or advertisements in the newspapers."

"I do think it is a funny joke to think that men and women who are away from the country and who rather think they're very much superior to cows have come to the conclusion that it is interesting to read in the evening paper about the 70,000 cows and how they are being looked after."

"Not only do they read about society in the city papers, and not only do they read about the money which can be made or lost as the case may be, but they read about cows, good, every-day cows. That's a joke on them!" They thought they could leave cows alone and have their city life without a thought of cows, but they found they wanted our milk in the first place for the city people drink a lot of milk.

"And now they're anxious to hear about us, very anxious to hear about us."

"They can't get away from the country and the cows. Ha, ha, ha!"

"I heard of some bookkeepers who went to a school which taught all about bookkeeping," said Miss Cow. "It shows that people aren't so superior to animals and little creatures after all. They must ask us for help, and they must learn about our ways."

"I'd hardly call cows little creatures," said Mrs. Cow. "Moo, moo, I'd hardly do that."

"I was speaking of us as animals, and of the bees as little creatures, moo, moo," said Miss Cow.

"I see, moo, moo, I see," said Mrs. Cow.

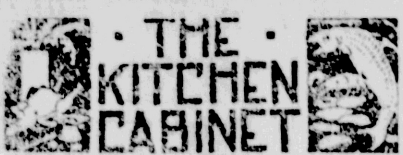

"You have big enough eyes to see with, too," said Miss Cow, grinning a slow, cowlike grin.

Alas, for Example.
Father—I hear, my boy, that you have lately told your mother several falsehoods. This grieves me to the heart. Always tell the truth, even though it may bring suffering upon you. You will promise me?

Boy—Yes, father.

Father—Very well. Now go and see who is knocking at the door. If it's the landlord say I'm not at home.

Mending.
Electrician's sticky black tape is excellent for mending breaks in pipes or bowls. If the weak spot is in a pipe, wrap the tape around it tightly, leaving a generous amount on each side. If there is a crack in the bowl, run the tape along the crack.

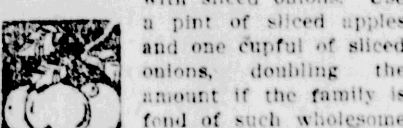

THE KITCHEN CABINET

(© 1921, Western Newspaper Union.)

If there were no such thing as a day in the world, we might get on a great deal better than we do, and might be infinitely more agreeable company than we are.

WELL TRIED DISHES.

When the early summer apples are large enough they are very good served with sliced onions. Use a pint of sliced apples and one cupful of sliced onions, doubling the amount if the family is fond of such wholesome dishes. Cook the onions in a little fat until they are well softened and yellow before adding the apples, sprinkle with a little flour and sugar, a sprinkling of salt and paprika and add a little water from time to time, as needed. Stir and cook until well blended. Serve around pork chops or steak.

Fried Apples.—This dish will take a large firm apple which does not lose its shape when cooking. Wash the apples and core them, then slice in rather thick slices and cook in bacon or salt pork fat until well browned on both sides. Sprinkle while cooking with a very little salt and a bit of sugar. Serve in overlapping slices around pork chops or sausages.

Those who have been forehanded in sowing some mustard seed will have the best of greens to cook or to serve with fresh lettuce. The green mustard cut in bits and added to potato salad is especially appetizing. In fact added to almost any vegetable combination it is fine.

Baked Bananas.—Remove the peel from half a dozen bananas; scrape them to remove all coarse threads, and lay in a well-buttered baking dish. Grate the rind of an orange and half a lemon; mix together with the juice of each and three-fourths of a cupful of sugar. Pour over the bananas, dot with two tablespoonfuls of butter and bake until the bananas are tender. Bananas are best for this dish, as they keep their shape when cooked.

Spiced Carrots.—Cook until tender, very young carrots; sprinkle with flour, powdered clove, butter, lemon juice; reheat and serve with minced meat.

Flemish Apples With Onions.—Slice thinly unpeeled apples; sprinkle with flour; add bits of butter and sugar, and place in layers in a baking dish, using buttered crumbs on each layer with a few thinly sliced onions. Bake until well cooked.

DEALS BLOW TO OLD THEORY

Writer Points Out Fallacy of Supposition That Prehistoric Man Were All Savages.

The notion that all prehistoric men were brutes and savages dies hard, a notion which has been spread by poets, painters and sculptors as well as by many thoughtless prehistorians. A theoretic rebuttal is afforded in the simple consideration that any tribe in which brutal and savage elements predominated would have undergone a retrogressive social and racial development and would never have attained the superb qualities which we discover in many of the Eurasian races immediately after their emergence from the so-called savage state. Man is not a savage because he dresses in skins and uses stone and wooden weapons; he may be savage while riding in an automobile and using a rifle. "The New Stone Age in Northern Europe," by John M. Tyler, is refreshing for those who desire to bury the primitive savage theory once for all and to give our fundamental virtues, both mental and spiritual, as well as to excuse them for certain customs which have only recently disappeared from our own civilization. Altogether, the new Stone age covered not only a very long period of time, but one of great cultural progress, partly autochthonous, but more largely introduced from the East. The varied industries of the era, the valuable implements, the trade in salt, gold, copper and amber, the mining for flint, indicate people equal, if not superior, to the average inhabitants of the same regions of Europe at the present time.—Henry Fairfield Osborn in The Literary Review.

CONFERENCE IS
LLOYD-GEORGE'S

He Urges U. S. To Take Initiative

In Calling Disarmament Meeting

And Now So Many Complications

Arise Within Empire That He

Almost Regrets It.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, July 23.—Premier Lloyd-George is becoming apprehensive over the troublesome complications which are besetting the arrangements for the proposed Washington conference on disarmament and Far East issues, his friends revealed today.

The premier was quoted as saying to an intimate: "I almost wish I had never suggested a conference."

Lloyd-George's statement is explained by the fact that while the public invitation to the powers came from President Harding, it is generally understood that Great Britain strongly urged the United States to take the initiative in calling the international meeting.

The premier intensely wishes the conference to be held and also he wishes to participate personally.

Apart from sincerely believing that disarmament is possible, he realizes that it would be the biggest personal triumph he has ever achieved and would assure him an unlimited term of power.

But three obstacles confront the premier.

Premier Hughes, of Australia is insisting upon an Australian representation in the Pacific discussions and coupled with this is the fact that Hughes will soon return to Australia and is unable to wait until autumn for the conference.

Consequently the Australian premier is urging an immediate meeting in London.

Premier Meighan, of Canada, is supporting his Australian colleague.

Lloyd-George favored their suggestion to the extent of putting the proposal directly up to George Harvey, the American ambassador.

No response has yet arrived from Washington and Lloyd-George is beginning to fear that there is no chance for a preliminary conference in London.

Premier Lloyd-George realizes it is useless for him to go to the United States unless there is an Irish settlement in the meantime. He is becoming slightly pessimistic on account of the attitude of Ulster in the Irish peace negotiations.

Leaders of the coalition party represent the possible absence of Lloyd-George from England, fearing that Austin Chamberlain would be unable to hold the coalition party together in his absence.

These three factors are telling heavily against Lloyd-George's personal desires and doubt is expressed as to whether he can overcome them.

The London Times understands that the dominion premiers have received from Washington a reply to their query as to whether they may have representation at the conference, but no hazard was made as to the result.

In connection with Premier Lloyd-George's statement in commons that Great Britain would continue the construction of warships, the Daily Mail declared today that the cabinet supports the premier's view and that it favors the building of capital ships and a continuation of the naval program.

For several years Britain will construct big warships at the rate of three or four a year, according to the Daily Mail's version of the ministerial decision.

The Daily Mail went on to say, however, that this decision would be subject to any treaty with Japan and America for reduction of armaments.

Admiral Earl Beatty, first sea lord of the admiralty, and Winston Churchill, secretary of state for the Colonies, had both recommended big ship construction to the Imperial Naval Committee which, in turn, made a recommendation to the cabinet that the construction of both big and little ships continue.

Four Sons at Naval Academy.

Among those recently admitted to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis were Edwin F. and Arthur Donovan Farrell, sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Farrell of Eastport, Maryland. These young men graduated from Annapolis High School June 15, and were sworn in as midshipmen of the fourth class on July 12. They are brothers of Assistant Professor William E. Farrell, of the department of marine engineering, and also of Midshipman J. A. Farrell, Jr., now with the fleet cruising along the coast of Europe. Mr. and Mrs. Farrell hold a remarkable record, for having four sons who attended the Naval Academy. Miss Sarah A. Cloonan, formerly of this city, is a cousin of the young midshipmen and was in Annapolis to attend the high school commencement, and also the graduation exercises of St. Mary's Academy, from which Miss Nan Farrell graduated.

Hit Hydrant.

A Cadillac automobile in attempting to avoid a Ford car on Broadway this morning skidded on the pavement and struck the fire hydrant near Franklin street, bending the fire hydrant and damaging the car.

One Speeder Arrested.

Friday afternoon Officer Soper arrested Maxine Ferrer of New York city on a charge of speeding 23 miles an hour on Broadway. He gave bail for his appearance later.

KINGSTON, N. Y., JULY 23, 1921

RAZZLE-DAZZLE

Capital writhes under the oppressive and grasping tactics of certain type of labor agitators and demagogues.

Labor fulminates against certain types of unscrupulous and oppressive capitalists.

Capital and labor expend much energy in useless fighting and squabbling, due to lack of understanding.

This is costly, in a direct way, but more costly in an indirect way because it diverts the attention of both capital and labor from the activities of those who prey on both.

While capital and labor squabble both are paying, in voluntary or involuntary taxation, for the support of an aggregation of faddists and meddlers, official and unofficial, who are engaged in "regulating" or "uplifting" everybody and everything.

There are too many men and women receiving big salaries for spending the money that other men and women earn by hard and necessary labor.

There is too much time and authority used by official and unofficial busybodies in inducing real workers to spend money and time for useless things. Too much preaching. Too much dreaming. Too much razzle-dazzle that diverts attention from real things.

Think it over and apply it to conditions local as well as general.

STREET DANCING.

This year the festivities of the Paris celebration of the fall of Bastille included performances by more than six hundred dancing parties on open squares and streets through all sections of the French capital. Street dancing is now encouraged or tolerated in some of our American centers of population also, and in an editorial reference to it the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin says: "The experiment of public street dancing, initiated at a few squares last year, and now being carried out each Thursday evening on the Parkway, is meeting with sufficient popular approval to warrant its extension another year."

Suitable places, no doubt, can be found in many sections of the city where communal festivities of the sort can be carried on to the satisfaction of the lads and lassies, of mature as well as youthful years. It is an idea in popular effervescence that is worth trying out in all sections.

The editor quoted pointedly adds that such open air dancing "will be more healthful physically and morally than that of the majority of dance halls." There is, however, one objection that is worthy of consideration. The encouragement of street dancing on a considerable scale is sure to arouse protest among great numbers of people who seem displeased when they see others enjoying themselves and are prone to discover sin in such enjoyment, no matter what its particular character. For this reason there is risk involved. If street dancing should spread to the smaller cities and towns a crusade against it would undoubtedly follow, and in all probability would win out to no great while the adoption of a constitutional amendment prohibiting dancing of any sort and in any place whatsoever.

Vote for "forty immortals" among living British writers sent to a London literary journal in preference to Thomas Hardy, Rudyard Kipling, H. G. Wells, J. M. Barrie and Bernard Shaw in the order named. Many critical readers in America and probably also in England regard Joseph Conrad as a greater writer than any of these, with the single exception of Thomas Hardy.

The Germans desire and evidently expect a war between the United States and Japan and the majority are said to want Japan to win. But a naturalized German in Pittsburgh, N. J., wanted his adopted country to win and his will leaves a prize to the crew of the first American warship to sink a Japanese naval vessel.

Fred. Kane's assertion that "women dominate the entire life of America" does not please all American women. For Mrs. Forrester, former president of the New York Interborough Association of Teachers, writes: "I have always believed that

The Government would get much less than the calculated revenue from a tax-stamp on bank checks because the number of checks now written would be greatly reduced, money being drawn out in bulk and many bills paid in cash as was done during the Spanish-American war.

An exhibition of American paintings, said to be by our best artists, has been scorchingly criticized in Paris. Perhaps the American artist like the American laborer, is in these times inclined to "lay down on the job." Not even a genius can do that and win.

The Georgia white man is not always walking on the neck of the black, as recent news items and editorial comments have doubtless inclined many readers to believe. A 250,000 public library for negroes has just been dedicated in Atlanta.

On Sunday-evening, July 24, at 8 o'clock at the Congregation Agudas Achaim on West Union street a monster memorial meeting will be held to commemorate the seventeenth anniversary of the death of Dr. Theodore Herzl and the first anniversary of the brutal murder of Professor Israel Friedlander and Rabbi Bernard Cantor, the accredited representatives of American Jewry on their mission of mercy in far away Ukraine.

Dr. Herzl acquired a high reputation as a serious journalist and dramatist. All his claims to renown, however, sink into insignificance when compared with his work as a reviver of Jewish hopes for a restoration of a Jewish homeland.

To accomplish so great a task a self-restoration the Jews must first organize. For this purpose, Herzl called together the Zionist congress. For the first time in two thousand years delegates representing Jews the world over assembled at Basle, Switzerland, on August 27, 1897, to discuss the Jewish problem. Herzl was elected president of the organized world Zionists and was re-elected unanimously at every congress. The Basle program adopted at the first Zionist congress defined the aim and purpose of political Zionism to be "the establishment for the Jewish people of a public and legally assured home in Palestine."

Herzl's life was a strenuous one. In the course of his diplomatic activity he had received expressions of good will from the prime ministers and rulers of most of the European states. But due to his over strenuous labors his health failed him. On July 3, 1904, in the forty-fourth year of his age, Theodore Herzl died a martyr in his devotion to the movement and the regeneration of his people.

Beyond question Dr. Herzl was the most influential Jewish personality of the nineteenth century. He brought home to the Jews the perils that confronted them; he compelled many a semi-detached son of Israel to rejoin the camp. His ideas gave new impulses to Jewish culture including the popularization of Hebrew as a living language. Herzl was the only Jewish statesman of modern times who had devoted himself to the service of his people. His fascinating personality and his diplomatic tact had made him the spokesman of his brethren. He had found the Jewish question a philanthropic one: he left it an economic and diplomatic one. As an upholder of Jewish ideals and a liberator of his people from mental and moral servitude he stands almost unique in Jewish annals.

The meeting this Sunday evening will also be devoted to an appreciation of Professor Friedlander and Rabbi Cantor. Both of these men were American, honored and respected by Jew and Gentile. Rabbi Cantor was, by far the younger man. He was an assistant to Dr. Stephen S. Wise of the Free Synagogue and gave promise of an active life. Israel Friedlander was professor of Bible and Philosophy at the Jewish Theological Seminary of America. He was one of the very great Jewish leaders in the United States. In American Jewry he was known as the champion of modern traditional Judaism, defending it both against the Ultra-Orthodox and the Reform wing of Judaism. In his relation to his fellow men he was a kindly and gentle soul who bore no animosity and harbored no ill will toward any man. That such a man should be struck down in cold blood by cowardly murderers serves but to accentuate the tragedy.

Professor Friedlander with his young friend Rabbi Cantor willingly undertook the dangerous mission of serving their brethren in the Ukraine. Professor Friedlander could have saved his people from America on less dangerous fields. But it was not in his heart to remain in calm activity when his people were drowning in oceans of blood. He was leaving his path to the dangers that beset his path. He craved an outlet for his unquenchable desire to serve his people. He was dead as he had lived, serving the Jewish people whom he had loved and to whom he had dedicated his life. It has already been truly said that his was a soldier's death, killed in action, on the field of glory. Like a true soldier he left his wife and five small children and sacrificed everything that was near and dear to him. But unlike other soldiers he went not to kill, but to help and succor.

It was on the nineteenth of July in the city of Yarmouth that the bodies of Professor Israel Friedlander and Rabbi Bernard Cantor were discovered, victims of cruel blood-thirsty mobs. The news of the murder of these great Americans, bestirred world Jewry as no incident has. The chronicles of modern Jewish history will for generations to come teach the lesson of those two noble sons of the Jewish people and stand out as shining examples as the highest type of sacrifice.

The memory of the cruel fate of the Jewish American representatives in Ukraine is yet fresh in the hearts of Americans. Kingston Jewry in unison with all Jewry will honor the memory of these great martyrs together with that of Dr. Theodore Herzl. It is expected that every Jew, young and old, will be present this Sunday evening and participate in memorial services for these three leaders of Israel. Good speakers will discuss the life and works of each of these men. A cordial invitation is extended to all Kingstonians to attend.

GEORGES HOME; STILL HAS HOPE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Paris, July 23.—Georges Carpentier, the defeated heavyweight arrived from New York today and announced that he hoped to fight Jack Dempsey again next year for the world title.

Carpentier was given a rousing ovation. In response to the cheers of the crowd he made a speech saying:

"My friends, I hope next year to be in condition to defeat Dempsey." The first action of the popular pugilist was to kiss his infant daughter. Then he embraced and kissed his wife.

No Advocate but Itself.

Do not waste a minute, not a second, in trying to demonstrate to others the merit of your own performance. If your work does not vindicate itself, you cannot vindicate it, but you can labor steadily on to the something which needs no advocate but itself.—Thomas Wentworth Higginson, "A Letter to a Young Contributor."

"MINUSMARRIAGE" HERE WEDNESDAY

"Minus Marriage" is the name of the new comedy by Thomas Grant Springer and W. D. Hepenstall which will be the attraction at the Kingston Opera House next Wednesday and Thursday with Cyril Chadwick featured in the leading role.

"Minus Marriage" tells the story of the daughter of a millionaire father, who indulges her every whim. However when she brings home the self-appointed pioneer of the feminine sex, and manages to entirely disrupt the entire household even to the extent of breaking her engagement and running off with the family butler to prove the theories of her new found friend. It takes little imagination to picture the complications which are evolved out of this situation, the humor of the situations, and the snappiness of the dialogue which is humorous and laugh provoking to a side splitting degree without waxing too risqué at any minute. A comedy that can be really humorous and not salacious is something which we have all too few of in the last few years, but Mr. Springer and Mr. Hepenstall have accomplished the seemingly impossible in "Minus Marriage."

Harry Cabane, the producer, has assembled a cast of uniform excellence. Cyril Chadwick, who won the privilege and honor of being featured through his splendid performance last season as "Spooty" in "Three Live Ghosts" plays the English butler while Daisy Bedmore, who was also in the same company last season as a cockney maid, Martha Mayo who created the role of Mrs. Benson in "East is West" and this year in "June Love" plays the mother with Eveta Nudsen, last in "Opportunity" as the daughter and Halbert Brown playing the father. Oliver Oliver is the self-appointed leader of her sex, and Edward Reese recently seen in "The White Villa" the discarded fiance. A special matinee on Thursday afternoon has been arranged.

ANNUAL TENNIS TOURNAMENT

The annual Forsyth tennis tournament will be staged on the local courts, beginning Tuesday, August 2. All residents of this city are eligible to make entry. Many local racket stars have already signified their intention of competing for the cups, and it is hoped that all others familiar with the hard court game will send in their names to the directors at Forsyth Park. Miss Helen Wood will be in charge of the ladies' and girls' tournament, while L. H. Rockhill will handle the men's and boys' competition.

Handsome cups will be awarded as trophies in each division which are as follows: Men, 16 years of age or over; boys under 16 years; ladies, 16 years of age or over; girls under 16 years. As usual the courts will be in the very best of condition. The rules of the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association will govern the play and a competent umpire will handle each match. The first round will be played on August 2 and the remaining rounds on succeeding days. The drawings will be announced on Monday, August 1. All entries must be in the hands of the directors by Saturday, July 30, so that the drawing may be completed and announced. One of the best tournaments Kingston has ever witnessed is anticipated.

Tagging All The Bases.

Kelly bumped out his 14th homer and the Reds bumped the Giants again hitting Douglas and Causey hard.

Ferdie Schupp had an enjoyable time at Ebbets Field trimming the Cardinals.

The Pirates and Braves split even in a twin bill. Dave Robertson was hurt in the second game when he crashed into a wall in right field but recovered sufficiently to get three hits.

Grimes and Deal planted homers into the Philly stands in the 9th inning and the Cubs won.

The American League schedule makers overlooked July 22 on the calendar this year.

"BLACK SOX" WAIVERS GONE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Chicago, July 23.—A frantic search is on today for the immunity waivers supposed to have been signed by Eddie Cicotte, Claude Williams and Joe Jackson, three of the former White Sox ball players who are on trial for conspiracy to throw the 1919 world's series to Cincinnati, when they made their alleged confessions before the grand jury which indicted them. The waivers are vital. Judge Hugo Friend has ruled that the confessions may be admitted as evidence if it can be established that they were offered voluntarily.

Discovery that the documents had disappeared was made when attorneys for the state sought to introduce the confessions. Defense counsel objected and the state was unable to produce the waivers it declared the indicted players had signed.

In an attempt to prove the confessions voluntary, Harvey L. Replogle, a former assistant state's attorney who conducted the investigation before the grand jury, was called as a witness. Replogle testified that the confessions were made without promise of immunity.

It was reported also today that the copies of the confessions said to have been made by the players were missing but this could not be confirmed.

The waivers, attorneys claim, were last seen in the files of the state's attorney's office. It is believed they were stolen.

Judge Friend is expected to make a final ruling on Monday as to the admission of the confessions as evidence. He already has tentatively ruled that the confessions, if admitted, will apply only to those players making the statements.

DAVIS NEW COAST TENNIS EXPERT

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, July 23.—Watch Willis Davis! Paste this young man's name in your hat as a coming national singles and Davis Cup tennis star.

These tips are going the rounds among devotees of tennis today, and with Davis in the east and big tennis fixtures coming on apace they will be worth remembering.

San Francisco has contributed Davis to tennis. He comes from the native heath of three former American national champions—Maurice E. McLaughlin, R. Lindley Murray and William M. Johnston—all sons of California. And he comes highly respected for his prowess on the courts.

Tall, youthful, almost as lanky as Bill Tilden and constantly improving his style of play, Davis will bear watching. As far back as 1916 he was No. 8 in the national ranking. Then came the war and Davis went into service. In 1918 he was not ranked but the following year he was 13th in the list and last year he was fifth among the nation's ranking players.

Davis's most favorable impression on eastern tennis fans was made in 1919, when, at Southampton, in the semi-finals round of the Invitation singles he fairly swept the great Norman E. Brooks from the court, winning the hardest-fought match of the tourney 7-9, 6-1, 14-12. Brooks, at that time, predicted great things for Davis, just as he later predicted that Tilden would win his place in international tennis.

In this section of the country they look to Davis as the Tilden from the west. His slashing service and the speed and accuracy of his smashes and volleys greatly resemble those of the international champion. He has come east with plenty of hard practice under his belt, prepared to win his spurs in the biggest matches of the year and he may win a place on the Davis Cup team that will defend the trophy at Forest Hills next fall.

Tilden has been playing erratically. He is not at his best this season. William M. Johnston, happily, is said to be on his game. But it is scarcely probable that the Davis Cup committee will depend on the Australian winners to carry the burden alone in the coming matches and Davis may be chosen as a member of the team. At least, he has a great chance to win a place.

British Tennis Team Due.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, July 23.—The tennis team representing the British Isles in the Davis Cup matches will arrive here tomorrow on the liner Baltic, it was announced today by the United States Lawn Tennis Association. The British players will practice at the Rockaway Hunt Club until leaving for Pittsburgh to meet the winner of the Canadian-Australian Davis Cup tie. STREET GOSSIP ABOUT THE TOWN

Public Markets are Discussed, and
Hunters Overheard—More Men
Employed Than Women in Kingston—What Aldermen Should Do.

Now that the unofficial and informal downtown market has been abolished by the city authorities with the opening of the public market on Field Court there has arisen considerable discussion both pro and con regarding the action taken. For several days it has been one of the main topics of discussion especially among those who were in the habit of patronizing the former market.

According to street gossip the owner of a large lot, now vacant, in the vicinity of the former market, had offered it to the ones who formerly used the old market to have a public market of their own. This, however, has been denied by the owner of the property who says that there is nothing to it, and that it is only street talk.

There was also street talk of hiring a vacant store and using it to store produce in so that the peddlers could obtain their supplies, but as yet it is only rumor, and no action has been taken. The Sleightsburgh side of the skiffport ferry is also said to be used for a meeting place for some peddlers and producers.

The Field Court market without question works a slight hardship on the peddlers residing in the lower section of the city for the oranges, bananas and other fruit has been brought here from New York by boat consigned to the wholesalers. The wholesalers would visit the boat early and load up and drive to the market nearby and would sell to the peddlers who in that way got an early start on their routes.

Some of the peddlers, however, have evolved a plan to overcome the trouble of going to the Field Court market. They place their order ahead with the producers from the town of Esopus who deliver the goods to some of the downtown stores where the peddler later gets it. In this way they evade breaking the law and yet receive their goods somewhat earlier than if they went to the Field Court market.

The abolishing of the market downtown has also affected the pockets of some of the Strand merchants. In one of the popular eating places it was customary daily, except Sundays, to feed from thirty to forty of the marketmen, while the cigar stores sold a considerable supply of tobacco. Of course this trade is now knocked in the head.

Those who favored the central market, however, contend that it will take a little time for the peddlers and buyers as well as the consumers to get used to the new market, but that it is only a question of time when all difficulties will be smoothed out and the new market a success.

Whenever there was a gathering on the street corner the question has always popped up as to why more industries employing men and boys do not locate here, and it was said that the town was leaning more to the employment of women and girls than the male sex, and that there were more females employed in Kingston than men for that reason.

This gossip has been somewhat knocked in the head, however, with the census reports from Washington that was given in The Freeman on July 19, in which the government stated that there were 11,982 persons 10 years of age and over in Kingston engaged in gainful occupations in 1920, and of that number 8,491 were males and 3,491 females. In other words, that there were 5,000 more males employed in Kingston than females.

Kingston's speech muzzling ordinance is also a topic that comes in for considerable gossip on the streets these days, and the several impression seems to be that the "gag law" is a joke, and its adoption, if the amended ordinance is adopted, is a joke. What should be done is to abolish the present ordinance and throw it into the discard along with the amended one.

The fact that some of the other cities in the state have been foolish enough to adopt a similar ordinance is no reason why Kingston should also be classed as a "nut" city. There is about as much need for such an ordinance here, the street talkers say, as there is to equip the city hall with wings.

THE STROLLER.

SEEK COUNTERFEITERS.

Federal Sleuth Is Busy In Poughkeepsie Seeking "Ratters."

The large number of raised bills being circulated in Poughkeepsie has resulted in the secret service department of the government sending to that city one of its experienced men in the detection of counterfeiters to cooperate with the Poughkeepsie police department in conducting an investigation.

Three bills raised from $2 to $20 have been found and the secret service man stated that it is now one of the most common forms of counterfeit, feeling as it not only involves far less expense but at the same time as the greater part of the note is genuine it will be more likely to pass the observation of a person who merely notices money from the standpoint of the materials.

The sleuth is also conducting an investigation of the large number of fifty-cent counterfeit pieces that are said to be the most common of the counterfeiters' work that have come to the attention of the department.

This is not propaganda—It is nothing to join—the matter is solely to induce Bible reading and to create religiousness upon the other premises.

The great jubilee cycle is due to begin in 1925, at which time God's kingdom on earth shall be reestablished.—Mark, 1:1-4. The Golden Age of which prophets prophesied will be in Earth's time of trouble will end. Not only those living at that time (John 11:26), but all the dead shall begin to be awakened and brought back in order to enjoy an opportunity for life, with complete resurrection of families by the return of their loved ones. Jeremiah 31:31-34; 1 Corinthians 15:20, 26; John 5:28, 29; Acts 3:21; 1 Peter 3:10; 1 Thessalonians 4:16, 17; 1 Timothy 2:3-4; 2 Timothy 2:12-13; Titus 2:13-14; Hebrews 9:27.

"MINUS MARRIAGE" HERE WEDNESDAY

"Minus Marriage" is the name of the new comedy by Thomas Grant Springer and W. D. Hepenstall which will be the attraction at the Kingston Opera House next Wednesday and Thursday with Cyril Chadwick featured in the leading role.

"Minus Marriage" tells the story of the daughter of a millionaire father, who indulges her every whim. However when she brings home the self-appointed pioneer of the feminine sex, and manages to entirely disrupt the entire household even to the extent of breaking her engagement and running off with the family butler to prove the theories of her new found friend. It takes little imagination to picture the complications which are evolved out of this situation, the humor of the situations, and the snappiness of the dialogue which is humorous and laugh provoking to a wide smiling degree without waxing too risqué at any minute. A comedy that can be really humorous and not satirical is something which we have all too few of in the last few years, but Mr. Springer and Mr. Hepenstall have accomplished the seemingly impossible in "Minus Marriage."

Harry Cabane, the producer, has assembled a cast of uniform excellence. Cyril Chadwick, who won the privilege and honor of being featured through his splendid performance last season as "Sooty" in "Three Live Ghosts" plays the English butler while Daisy Bedmore, who was also in the same company last season is seen as a cockney maid. Martha Mayo who created the role of Mrs. Benson in "East is West" and this year in "June Love" plays the mother with Eveta Nudson, last in "Opportunity" as the daughter and Halbert Brown playing the father. Oliver Oliver is the self-appointed leader of her sex, and Edward Reese recently seen in "The White Villa" the discarded fiance. A special matinee on Thursday afternoon has been arranged.

ANNUAL TENNIS TOURNAMENT

The annual Forsyth tennis tournament will be staged on the local courts, beginning Tuesday, August 2. All residents of this city are eligible to make entry. Many local racket stars have already signified their intention of competing for the cups, and it is hoped that all others familiar with the hard court game will send in their names to the directors at Forsyth Park. Miss Helen Wood will be in charge of the ladies' and girls' tournament, while L. H. Rockhill will handle the men's and boys' competition.

Handsome cups will be awarded as trophies in each division which are as follows: Men, 16 years of age or over; boys under 16 years; ladies, 16 years of age or over; girls under 16 years. As usual the courts will be in the very best of condition. The rules of the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association will govern the play and a competent umpire will handle each match. The first round will be played on August 2 and the remaining rounds on succeeding days. The drawings will be announced on Monday, August 1. All entries must be in the hands of the directors by Saturday, July 30, so that the drawing may be completed and announced. One of the best tournaments Kingston has ever witnessed is anticipated.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Chicago, July 23.—A frantic search is on today for the immunity waivers supposed to have been signed by Eddie Cicotte, Claude Williams and Joe Jackson, three of the former White Sox ball players who are on trial for conspiracy to throw the 1919 world's series to Cincinnati, when they made their alleged confessions before the grand jury which indicted them. The waivers are vital. Judge Hugo Friend has ruled that the confessions may be admitted as evidence if it can be established that they were offered voluntarily.

Discovery that the documents had disappeared was made when attorneys for the state sought to introduce the confessions. Defense counsel objected and the state was unable to produce the waivers it declared the indicted players had signed.

In an attempt to prove the confessions voluntary, Harvey L. Reppel, a former assistant state's attorney who conducted the investigation before the grand jury, was called as a witness. Reppel testified that the confessions were made without promise of immunity.

It was reported also today that the copies of the confessions said to have been made by the players were missing but this could not be confirmed.

The waivers, attorneys claim, were last seen in the files of the state's attorney's office. It is believed they were stolen.

Judge Friend is expected to make a final ruling on Monday as to the admission of the confessions as evidence. He already has tentatively ruled that the confessions, if admitted, will apply only to those players making the statements.

These tips are going the rounds among devotees of tennis today, and with Davis in the east and big tennis fixtures coming on apace they will be worth remembering.

San Francisco has contributed Davis to tennis. He comes from the native heath of three former American national champions—Maurice E. McLoughlin, R. Lindley Murray and William M. Johnston—all sons of California. And he comes highly respected for his prowess on the courts.

Tall, youthful, almost as lanky as Bill Tilden and constantly improving his style of play, Davis will bear watching. As far back as 1916 he was No. 8 in the national ranking. Then came the war and Davis went into service. In 1918 he was not ranked but the following year he was 13th in the list and last year he was fifth among the nation's ranking players.

Davis's most favorable impression on eastern tennis fans was made in 1919, when, at Southampton, in the semi-final round of the invitation singles he fairly swept the great Norman E. Brooks from the court, winning the hardest-fought match of the tourney 7-9, 6-1, 14-12. Brooks, at that time, predicted great things for Davis, just as he later predicted that Tilden would win his place in international tennis.

In this section of the country they look to Davis as the Tilden from the west. His slashing service and the speed and accuracy of his smashes and volleys greatly resemble those of the international champion. He has come east with plenty of hard practice under his belt, prepared to win his spurs in the biggest matches of the year and he may win a place on the Davis Cup team that will defend the trophy at Forest Hills next fall.

Tilden has been playing erratically. He is not at his best this season. William M. Johnston, happily, is said to be on his game. But it is scarcely probable that the Davis Cup committee will depend on the Australian winners to carry the burden alone in the coming matches and Davis may be chosen as a member of the team. At least, he has a great chance to win a place.
